Premier Ends Rumors

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King spiked reports today that he was in touch with persons outside Parliament with a view to bringing new blood into the cabinet.

Nip Plots

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Treasury Department official, speaking of guards placed at ports in the United States, said this afternoon that coastguard and customs agents had been put on the alert on the basis of a report from outside the government that there was danger of sabotage generally in ships, docks and other shipping facilities this week-end. He said similar reports had come in from time to time and that "alerts" had been ordered but nothing had developed.

Trail Man Killed

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Word was received here today that C. T. Oughtred of Kimberley, B.C., general superintendent of concentration for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, was killed yesterday morning when the car he was driving jumped the road between New Denver and Sandon, B.C., and careened down a bank.

MAY CONTINUE FUND APPEALS

OTTAWA (CP)—Methods of raising funds for war services, which do not involve national appeals and house-to-house canvasses, are not affected by the recent announcement by War Services Minister Gardiner that no further public appeal for funds would be permitted in 1941 unless some national emergency should arise, Mr. Justice T. C. Davis, associate deputy minister of National War Services, said today.

Seattle to Pay 65c for Haircuts

SEATTLE (AP)—Starting next Monday, haircuts will cost 65 cents, an increase of 15 cents, and shaves 35 cents, a 10-cent boost, in all King County union shops. The price of children's haircuts will remain 50 cents.

"We simply are returning to the prices which prevailed in pre-depression days, from 1924 to 1931," Charles Whitman, secretary and business agent of Barbers' Union Local 195, said. The new scale was adopted at the request of the Barber Shop Owners' Association Inc.

Bismarck Badly Battered Before Torpedoes Struck

AN ENGLISH PORT (CP)—The chief petty officer of a British warship which brought in survivors of the 35,000-ton German battleship Bismarck, told today how British shells "banged hell out of her" before three "steel fish"—torpedoes—sent the pride of the German navy to the bottom.

MATSUOKA CLAIMS AXIS LINK HOLDS

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, reaffirming Japan's adherence to the three-power pact, declared at a press conference today that she might have to revise her "peaceful policy" toward the south seas.

Informed quarters interpreted that part of Matsuoka's statement as a direct warning to the Netherlands East Indies, in view of the current deadlock in economic talks.

"As has frequently been affirmed," Matsuoka told Japanese reporters, "Japan's policy toward the south seas is peaceful."

"Should, however, untoward international developments render execution of such policy impossible it is a possibility that Japan may have to reconsider her attitude in the light of the changed situation."

Matsuoka referred to what he described as rumors in some United States newspapers that Japan is becoming indifferent toward the three-power pact with Germany and Italy, in which Japan is pledged to go to war against any new belligerent attacking any of the signatories.

"There is no question whatever as to the fact that the tripartite pact constitutes an immutable basis of Japanese foreign policy," he said, adding:

"I could hardly believe that United States authorities were entertaining such a misunderstanding. . . . If such erroneous views are current in the United States they are ascribable to misleading information spread willfully."

over the side. The Bismarck was now ablaze from stem to stern, and her guns at last were silent."

Bluejackets who took part in the sinking of the Bismarck received a rousing welcome when they landed today in Britain, but survivors from the sunken German vessel were greeted with silence, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported.

Two of the German prisoners were brought ashore in stretchers, and one casualty from among the British ratings was landed.

When the German prisoners came to land the dockside was cleared and they came ashore under a strong guard, the BBC said. "A number were in oilskins, but most wore only blue trousers and white singlets."

"Many were without shoes, while others wore sandals."

12,000 LOGGERS MAY RESUME WORK

SEATTLE (AP)—Northwest loggers affiliated with the C.I.O. turned down a national defence mediation board suggestion that they return to work, but reports were current today that some sort of a break in the three-week strike of 12,000 workers might be in sight.

One development came from the operators of the 52 mills and camps closed by the walkout. An employers' negotiating committee released a telegram which it said had been sent to all operators recommending that they be prepared to resume work Monday.

The paralysis of cross-state bus travel in Washington and northern Idaho continued unchanged today. Only one link—between the Port Ludlow ferry and Port Townsend—continued operating out of the far-flung lines of the Washington motor coach system.

$1.10 AN HOUR FOR BAKERS

In Portland, the Rotary Bakery, with five retail outlets, reopened after signing a contract with the A.F.L. Bakers' Union. A six-day-old strike continued at all other major bakeries. 2 Fliers Killed

ALLISTON, Ont. (CP)—Two Royal Canadian Air Force men were killed this afternoon when their training plane crashed while attempting to take-off from an auxiliary flying field here.

The victims were Sgt. Instructor C. E. Shannon of Palisade Park, N.J., and L.A.C. D. A. Robinson of Killara, Australia.

Crete Defence Nearing End, Women, Children Leave

Canadian and Associated Press British-Greek forces in Crete fought with backs to the wall against growing odds today and informed sources in London grimly acknowledged the defence of the Greek island appeared to be entering its last desperate stages.

Royal Air Force bombers and long-range fighters, operating from Egyptian bases at least 350 miles away, were reported stabbing at the northern shores of Crete in an attempt to delay landing of German reinforcements, but military circles said there was pressing need for still stronger air support.

Withdrawal of British women and children from Crete was disclosed by a British broadcast heard in New York today which said they had arrived at a Mediterranean port "with the first batch of wounded to come from the island."

A communique issued by general headquarters in Cairo today said British troops had been forced to reorganize their lines in Crete because of new air-borne German reinforcements and intensive dive bombing.

Heavy Toll Taken By British

The British forces "again exacted a heavy toll of the invaders," a Middle East communique said, but it gave no further enlightenment on the critical situation in Crete beyond the statement that "further adjustments" were made by the defenders yesterday under pounding from the air.

In Berlin, D.N.B., the Nazi news and propaganda agency, claimed the Crete seaport of Retimo was taken by German forces yesterday forenoon and several thousand Italian prisoners liberated.

The German high command claimed its operations in Crete "are nearing a conclusion," and said British troops "are fleeing toward the south coast in order to escape further fighting through embarkation by night," using fishing boats and other small craft.

Loss of Candia Admitted

In London the Nazi claims that the defenders were preparing to leave the island went unanswered. Informed quarters, however, generally accepted Berlin reports that Heraclea (Candia)—as well as Canea and Suda Bay—are in German hands.

Official sources said they had no confirmation of Italian reports that Fascist troops had landed on Crete, but added that it probably was true. The Italians would be landed for political reasons and because of the "natural habits of the jackal," the sources said.

The London press took a glum view of the situation, emphasizing the lack of British air power and losses sustained by the Royal Navy in attempting to block the landing of sea-borne Axis troops. (London has announced the loss of three cruisers and four destroyers and damage to other naval craft in Crete waters.)

"We are hard pressed in Crete," declared the Daily Express. "The Germans had only air power to pit against sea power, land power and Crete patriotism, but they have obtained a firm foothold on the island."

"They have taken a heavy toll of our warships. They have made it safe to land even some of the jackal Italians."

The Daily Herald's military expert emphasized that possession of Canea and Suda Bay probably would make it possible for the enemy to bring in "the modern armament he knows so well how to use, and our position will be still further worsened."

Huge Concentration Of Aircraft

The size of the Nazi air fleet already based on Crete was emphasized by R.A.F. reports that a concentration of more than 100 Nazi aircraft had been bombed at one point on the northwest end of the island Tuesday night.

Military sources estimated 60,000 to 70,000 men—roughly half on each side—now were engaged in the fighting on Crete.

The German radio, heard in SAVED?—Lord Louis Mountbatten, cousin of King George VI, was in command of the destroyer Kelly, one of the four British destroyers announced lost in the battle off Crete. Most of the crew was reported saved, including Mountbatten.

New York and claiming to be quoting a Cairo radio station, said Maj.-Gen. B. C. Freyberg, commander of the British and Imperial forces in Crete, had been killed when his plane crashed en route to Alexandria.

Confirmation was not available in London or Cairo.

Rashid Seizes Boy King, Flees Iraq

LONDON (CP)—The anti-British premier of Iraq, Rashid Ali Gailani, has fled into neighboring Iran, taking with him six-year-old King Faisal II, Reuters news agency reported tonight.

The report of Rashid's flight, accompanied by the "regent," Sharaf, whom he had installed to guide the child king, was contained in an authoritative British announcement.

The additional report that he took little Faisal along came from Reuters, British news agency, which quoted a Baghdad dispatch to Vichy. Informed sources here could not confirm this and said the report should be treated with "utmost reserve."

Faisal succeeded to the throne April 4, 1939, on the death of his father, Ghazi, second King of Iraq. Before Rashid Ali seized power recently, the regency was under Faisal's maternal uncle, Emir Abdul Ilah.

Little Aid Comes From Axis

Rashid Ali, in power through a coup d'etat, had been leading Iraq forces against the British since they first opened fire on Britain's treaty airbase at Habbaniyah, Iraq, on May 4.

He called for Axis aid to his cause of expelling the British from Iraq, but apparently on account of Germany's preoccupation with the attack on Crete, Axis help was limited to a trickle of warplanes and technicians.

The London announcement said that when he crossed the frontier into Iran, Rashid Ali was accompanied by Amin Zaki, his chief of staff.

Regent Abdul Forms New Cabinet

Meanwhile with Rashid Ali gone, news came from Cairo that Emir Abdul Ilah, who was deposed as Regent of Iraq in the coup d'etat and fled, has entered Fallujah in the wake of the British troops advancing on Baghdad and is consulting with his followers on establishment of a new government. He was greeted by a delegation of leading citizens from Baghdad, the reports declared.

Tribal chiefs were said to be flocking to his standard.

British Troops In Sight Of Baghdad

Authoritative reports today said British forces had advanced to a point within five miles of Baghdad, Iraq capital.

At the same time another British column moving up the Euphrates River was reported to have reached Luqait, about 250 miles south of Baghdad and 50 miles northwest of Basra.

The column reported within five miles of Baghdad was advancing from the west after capturing the town of Khanuqa, fall of which was announced in a communique yesterday.

Though impeded by extensive rains and damage to a bridge on the path of the advance, British forces apparently covered about 15 miles in the past 24 hours. Khanuqa is 20 miles west of Baghdad.

Mobile British forces were said to be participating in the drive.

R.A.F. headquarters at Cairo reported the presence of Italian aircraft in Iraq for the first time today.

R.A.F. patrols shot down three CR42's yesterday near Khanuqa.

Job Insurance Rules

OTTAWA (CP)—Meals and shelter provided by an employer must be included in determining the weekly earnings of an employee for purposes of the unemployment insurance scheme effective July 1, it is said in a summary of regulations for employers issued by the Labor Department.

In determining the value of meals and shelter, the regulations provide that the following scale shall be applied:

Meals and shelter, $6 a week and $26 per month; meals only, $4.50 a week and $19.50 a month; shelter only, $1.50 a week and $6.50 a month, individual meals, or shelter for one night, 25 cents.

Provision is made that if an employer is already applying a scale accepted by the National Revenue Department for determination of the national defence tax this scale may be substituted.

EXEMPTED

The following are not to be considered in determining the earnings of an employee:

Compensation under a Workmen's Compensation Act;

Bonuses, gifts, superannuation and other gratuities including wages in lieu of notice given by an employer, except when same is given pursuant to the contract of service;

Tuition fees for approved educational courses;

Discounts granted by employers on purchases;

Amounts granted as supper money to employed persons working overtime, or cafeteria facilities granted without charge as part of the working conditions for reasons of convenience or general good will or health;

Value of medical or other professional services supplied by the employer;

Expenses incurred by an employed person in connection with an employer's business;

Tips or gratuities received from the employer's customers and not accounted for by the employed person to his employer, unless it is agreed by the employer and employee that such tips or gratuities constitute part of the remuneration under the contract of service.

FIELDS OF WORK DEFINED

Dealing with interpretations under which certain fields of employment are placed beyond the scope of the scheme, the regulations say agriculture is taken to cover all services performed on a farm by an employee directly connected with cultivation of the soil, raising or harvesting of crops, feeding or management of livestock, fur-bearing animals and wild life, and "services performed as an incidental and necessary adjunct to such activities."

As examples of what will be considered employment in agriculture and therefore not insurable, the regulations cite:

Hedging, ditching and the repair of fences on a farm, or maintenance of ditches and canals used exclusively for supplying and storing water for farming purposes;

Cleaning, packing and shipping seeds where this is done on a farm;

Mushroom growing;

Services performed on a farm by carpenters, painters, mechanics, bookkeepers, and other workers employed by the owner or tenant.

U.S. Defence Plants Guarded Against Saboteurs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military and civil guards stood watch today—Memorial Day—at United States defence plants from coast to coast, summoned overnight by civilian authorities who spoke of sabotage, and military officers who talked only of tactical manoeuvres.

Before dawn a three-day weekend "blackout" started for many of the principal aircraft plants which have been working around the clock on urgent orders for warplanes for Britain and the U.S.

Highlighting the sudden activity from New England to California was cancellation of leaves of 14,000 Fort Dix, N.J., soldiers, and a "practice alert" at Fort Custer, Mich., which was so realistic officers confessed "it even fooled us."

QUICK RETURN

Some of the men, who had already left camp at Fort Dix were ordered to be back by reveille tomorrow. Police patrolled terminals to notify soldiers of the cancellation. Leaves were not reported canceled at other army posts.

In southern California anti-aircraft guns and army pursuit planes were established at aviation plants.

Headquarters were established at the air corps hangar at Los Angeles, near the North American Aviation aircraft plant. Soldiers manned anti-aircraft guns at the Consolidated Aircraft plant at San Diego, at the Douglas Company's Santa Monica and El Segundo plants, at Lockheed's Burbank factory, and at the Vultee Aircraft plant at Downey.

Armed guards were on duty this afternoon at the Huntington beach oil field, near Los Angeles. Capt. W. H. Bachman of the Los Angeles harbor police, said that "every steamship company and major industrial unit in the port area has called special patrolmen and have floodlighted their ships and facilities."

SEATTLE GUARDS

At Seattle the port commissioners had extra guards placed along the waterfront after warnings by the Federal Bureau of Investigation that they should exercise "unusual" alertness over the Memorial Day weekend to safeguard shipping facilities.

Federal authorities closed the Lake Washington Ship Canal, locks, tourist attraction, to visitors, and doubled the ordinary guard. The locks connect Puget Sound with Seattle's lakes Union and Washington.

At Milan, Tenn., the Wolf Creek ordnance plant, now under construction, was placed under extraordinary guard after what the county sheriff called an F.B.I. tip. Guards yesterday arrested a man crawling through the plant fence.

The War Today

By DON GILBERT AND KIRKE L. SIMPSON

The enemy has gained a decisive foothold in Crete, and London concedes the battle is in its last stages. The Germans are in possession of the Greek island's two important towns, its only good airfield, and the harbor facilities of Suda Bay. The enemy by now probably has sufficient troops and equipment to compel the withdrawal of Gen. Freyberg's gallant forces.

Like the Greek mainland, Crete could have been held with better air support and more men. But the airport at Kisamo, on the western tip of the island, was seized by paratroopers and airborne troops in the first days of the invasion, and Royal Air Force fighter squadrons were forced to withdraw to Egypt.

NEEDED MORE MEN

The approaches to that airport, so vital in resisting air-borne attack, might have been held indefinitely by the 30,000 or so troops under Gen. Freyberg had not military necessity dictated a dispersal of these forces to deal with parachute and glider contingents landing in quick succession at vital points throughout the island.

The garrison was just not big enough and, despite the Royal Navy's success in preventing the landing of sea-borne reinforcements, the Germans were able to fly in enough men to push the defenders back in the western portion of the island by weight of numbers.

BIG TOLL TAKEN

Doubtless the German gains were costly. It is true the German army is large and that a few thousand casualties are of little significance in relation to its total strength. But it is questionable whether the enemy has unlimited supplies of the highly trained paratroopers and glider troops, or of the huge transport planes used in the invasion.

From Crete, as soon as the damaged air facilities can be put in order, the Germans will aim heavy air attacks at the British naval base at Alexandria and at the Mediterranean Fleet itself. These will probably be co-ordinated with efforts to invade Egypt and Syria in order to attempt a pincers movement on the Suez Canal and the Nile valley.

Britain's air problem will be less difficult in Egypt and Palestine than in the improvised defence of Greece and Crete. The R.A.F. has long been established in those countries.

Well-defended airfields are numerous, and there is an adequate supply of all types of aircraft.

CONTRAST

Seventy miles of sea have not served to save Crete—and only a 20-mile strip of channel water stands between Britain herself and Nazi forces.

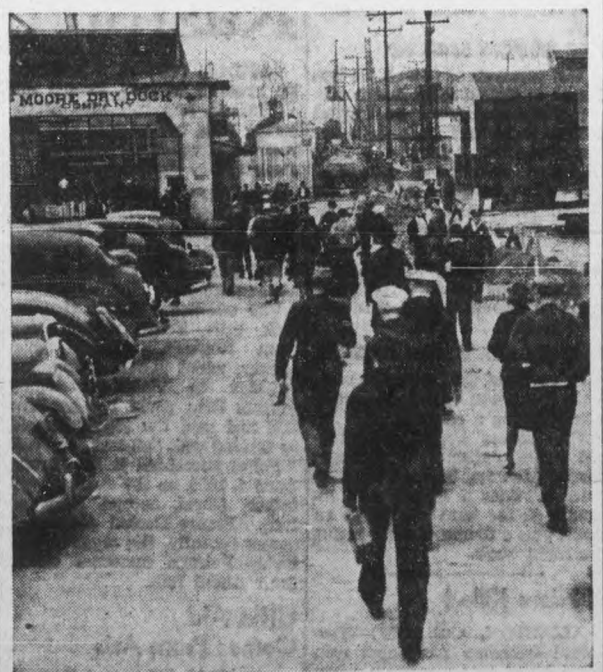

That must be the thought uppermost in many British minds today. The Battle of Crete cannot help but intensify the apprehension that tomorrow, next week, a month from now, British skies may be flooded with Nazi planes and parachuting attackers. Yet there is no real sign that such will be the case. The prime factor that accounts for the outcome at Crete, overwhelming German mastery of the air, would be lacking in an attempt on the British Isles.

There has been no intimation for months that British air patrols sweeping the continental coastline have sighted Nazi invasion preparations. The pattern of British bombing forays over the German-occupied "invasion coast" areas and over Germany itself does not indicate that an invasion is in immediate prospect.

On the contrary, since the spring campaigning started, German shipbuilding yards, fuel stores and plants, big gun emplacements and, above all, bomber and submarine nests, have been the main recipients of British air attacks. They are a part of the Battle of the Atlantic, the Nazi effort to strangle Britain by sea, rather than of the Battle of Britain.

2 Nazis Bagged

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty announced today destruction of two German bombers by naval anti-aircraft fire. One was brought down in flames by the flotilla leader Tartar. The other, a twin-engine bomber, was accounted for by the naval trawler Chiltern.

BACK TO WORK GO SHIPYARD EMPLOYEES—The growing "back to work" movement in several struck San Francisco Bay region shipyards was illustrated this morning following President Roosevelt's speech when 1,500 workers passed machinist's picket lines, reported at one large plant—largest number in three days. A 20-day-old strike of 1,700 machinists has interfered with $500,000,000 in defence and maritime orders.

Kurt Rieth Held in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—The German diplomat, who lost his job on Hitler's order because he meddled in the Austrian crisis which followed the assassination of Chancellor Dollfus in 1934, is a prisoner—held on Ellis Island for deportation because, federal authorities say, he did not state the true reason for his visit when he entered the United States.

Dr. Kurt Heinrich Rieth, ex-minister to Austria, was arrested yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and taken to Ellis, where he is held without bond. Officials of the department of justice said he was "the No. 1 Nazi in the United States" whose claim to be here on private business was false.

Rieth, a Belgian of German parentage who fled to Germany in 1914, entered the German diplomatic service in 1918 and became minister to Austria in 1931.

HIS GUARANTEE

On March 22 he entered the United States at Brownsville, Tex. Last Saturday the New York Herald-Tribune disclosed his presence here and declared he was seeking to buy up American-owned oil properties in eastern Europe.

His arrest yesterday followed

COUNTS AGAINST HIM

Four charges are made against him as follows:

That he was in the United States in violation of the immigration act of February 5, 1917.

That at time of his entry he was a member of a class excluded for reasons of public policy.

That the nonimmigrant visa he represented at Brownsville was obtained by fraud and misleading statements.

That he was in the United States in violation of the immigration act of 1924, since his entry was not that of a nonimmigrant as defined in the act.

NOT BELIEVED

Department of justice officers said his declaration of "personal business" as the reason for his visit was untrue as was his statement he had not before been in this country. Records show, they said, that he was here in 1928.

(In Berlin, it was stated today, the German embassy in Washington had been asked for a report on the case of Kurt Heinrich Rieth. It was added that no official word of his arrest had yet been received.)

(It was claimed Rieth has had no official business with the German government for seven years and was in the United States as a private individual on private business.)

2 Canadians Hurt

CALGARY (CP)—Two members of the Royal Canadian Air Force, P.O. B. C. Ward and L.A.C. Thomas Donald Thornton, were injured when their Avro-Anson bomber crashed in the Bowness district, six miles west of Calgary, at 2 this morning.

Both men were in a hospital here this afternoon, L.A.C. Thornton suffering from head injuries, shock and a fracture of the jaw and P.O. Ward from head injuries and shock.

Both men made their way from the wreckage but became separated, and it was not until hours after the crash that both were accounted for and the wreckage found.

Phil Carscallen, Albertan reporter, located the wreckage at 4:25 a.m., when he spotted the lights of the plane through the mist still burning. The machine was badly damaged, he said in notifying R.C.A.F. officials.

VICTORIA'S PLUMBING AND HEATING CENTRE
1000 DOUGLAS ST.ITALIANS ADMIT
TROOPSHIP SUNK

ROME (AP)—The 17,879-ton Italian liner Conte Rosso, laden with troops, was sunk by a torpedo south of Syracuse, Sicily, but most of the soldiers aboard were saved, the Italian high command said today.

On the other side of the ledger, the high command claimed the 1,340-ton British destroyer Hereford had been blown up by bombs dropped by Italian planes. The daily war bulletin said 229 members of the crew had been rescued, including 26 seriously wounded.

(Confirmation of the Italian claim was not available in London.)

The 19-year-old Conte Rosso, traveling in convoy when she went down, apparently was transporting troop reinforcements to Italian garrisons in north Africa, since the newspaper Il Popolo di Roma said fresh manpower was being conveyed across the Mediterranean by the Italian navy.

(The Admiralty two days ago announced the sinking by a British submarine of a liner of approximately this size.)

In another phase of the war at sea, Il Popolo di Roma said all Italian submarines in the Red Sea had returned to their Italian bases after a voyage of many weeks around Africa, during which the crews were on half rations. Two of the subs narrowly escaped disaster from mines, the paper said, shortly after they had left Massaua, Eritrea, in April.

Enemy Hemmed in
At Gondar, Ethiopia

LONDON (CP)—Italian forces at Gondar, a pocket of Italian resistance in northwest Ethiopia, have been hemmed in by a Fascist withdrawal from Debarech, on the Adowa road 50 miles to the north, authoritative British reports said today.

Allied forces moving against Gondar in the sector north of Lake Tana are composed principally of Ethiopians commanded by British officers, these sources said.

Native forces in southern Ethiopia have cleared the Italians from the area between Soddu and Muggo, about 70 miles to the north.

At the beleaguered, British-held port of Tobruk on the north African front, British forces made a thrust at the Axis end in the western perimeter of the Libyan port's defences.

Around Salum, just on the Egyptian side of the Libyan frontier, where the Axis vanguard recently has been active, these reports said there were only patrol skirmishes.

$3,000,000,000 for plants

WASHINGTON (AP)—New defence plant construction, expansion and equipment since the beginning of the armament program one year ago involves commitments of nearly $3,000,000,000, the Office of Production Management announced today.

More than 1,700 construction and expansion projects are included. British commitments totaled $146,400,000 for 47 plants.

Immigration officials reported to police Robert M. Thatcher, 20, is missing from Ss. La Placencia at Vancouver, and Oswald Tangen, 30, from Ss. Brenas at the same port.

Schmeling Alive
Berlin Claims

BERLIN (AP)—Max Schmeling's own words were quoted in the German press today to relate his part in the Nazi invasion of Crete after reports that he had been killed were denied.

An interview with the former heavyweight champion by Siegfried Kappe, a German military reporter, told how Schmeling had wandered alone half a day in the Crete wilderness after becoming separated from his companions.

The official denial of Schmeling's death said he was in an air force hospital with a minor attack of a tropical disease.

"Our group was to take a penitentiary building on an important, strategic street," the pugilist-parachutist was quoted.

"There was heavy fighting. Our opponents had heavy weapons which we lacked."

"Some of us were separated from our group, but at dusk we were rejoined and the strategic road as well as the prison were ours."

(In London authorized British sources said there was no reason to doubt the Berlin statement that Schmeling was alive. They said the New Zealand ambulance driver's report in Egypt that Schmeling had been killed in Crete might have resulted from mistaken identity.)

U.S. Mission Reports

Greenland Defences To Be Widened

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report on Greenland's strategic role as an outpost in the defenses of the western hemisphere will be made next week by United States officials now en route here in a coastguard cutter after an extensive survey of the world's largest island.

Aksel Svane, governor of southern Greenland, is also coming aboard the cutter for conferences with Hendrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister, and state department officials on the island's defence, administration and trade.

BUILDING BASES

The dramatic sea battle off Greenland in which the Nazi battleship Bismarck (itself later sent down) sank the British battlecruiser Hood and the Nazi attacks on convoys in Greenland waters have caused officials here to speed development of American air bases and defences on the island.

American apprehension that the island's vulnerability and its location off the coast of northern Canada might make it a potential danger to the peace of this continent caused President Roosevelt to take it under the protection of the United States April 10, the first anniversary of Denmark's occupation by Nazi forces. With American naval vessels patrolling between the United States and Greenland, it was pointed out, British warships would need to shepherd merchantmen only through the German-proclaimed blockade zone, recently extended to within three miles of Greenland.

EXTENDED PATROLS

Bases in Greenland, it was said, would also provide facilities for extension of American patrols—by warships or by planes—over the North Atlantic to give warning of any Nazi submarines or surface raiders attempting to prey on merchant ships in waters of the western hemisphere.

Greenland airfields might also be used, it was understood, as an intermediate stop by pilots ferrying warplanes from United States factories to the Royal Air Force.

AID FOR CHINA

By J. F. SANDERSON
WASHINGTON (CP)—The republic of China is receiving an increasing share of United States war supplies under the Lend-Lease Act, to fortify the administration of Chiang Kai-shek in the four-year war with Japan.

The volume of supplies sent to China is small in comparison with those sent across the Atlantic to Britain, but it will be increased month by month as American production increases.

In his "fireside chat" last Tuesday night, President Roosevelt made direct references to American aid for China. He said: "We have doubled and redoubled our vast production, increasing, month by month, our material supply of tools of war for ourselves and Britain and China—and eventually for all the democracies. The supply of these tools will not fail—it will increase."

The lend-lease supplies going to China range from aircraft to army blankets and include trucks, guns, shells, power plants, steel and other industrial equipment. Reports from Chungking indicate the arrangements have been made for the transfer of $100,000,000 worth of war supplies.

Letters to the EditorSTUPID POLICY CHANGED

The policy of hush-hush and secrecy that has enshrouded the movements of our soldiers has at last been changed, and the boys are to be played off.

Those responsible for that policy have been to a great extent responsible for the phony war complex and general apathy of us all.

Give plenty of publicity (Hitler will hear of it anyway) when the boys are going to leave and plenty of music which they will appreciate. So also will the wives, sweethearts feel cheered that their menfolk are being recognized by the public and feel braced up thereby.

BOMBER FROM THE MACS

Reading of the "Marys" and "Dorothy" Funds for war purposes gave me the idea of a Canadian "Mac" Bomber Fund. One has only to look at the Victoria and Vancouver directories to see the number of "Mac" in these two cities alone. My idea was for a prominent newspaper in each city, town or village in Canada to have subscription sheets on their counters to receive and take charge of the funds and ultimately send same back to the Times, Victoria, to be sent along in due course to the King or Prime Minister in London.

Starting here the Times might relay the idea to each paper on the island and to one in Vancouver with a request that they in turn relay the idea to another town until it reaches the far east. The field is enormous and should realize a huge sum if properly publicized by the newspapers, radio news commentators. I am sure Victoria would get valuable publicity in the matter also.

In the hope that you will start the ball rolling I enclose herewith the first dollar to the fund, along with suggested slogan.

THE HOOD AND 'UNLUCKY HIT'

Publication of my letter re Admiral Jellicoe was inadvertent, as this letter was personal.

The object of the letter was not only to pay a tribute to a very gallant officer, but, by implication, to encourage you to point out the grave consequences of niggardly support by the "powers that be," when it comes to providing our men with the most efficient "tools" our brains and brawn can produce.

Despite anything critics here may say, what I said in my letter about the Hood incident has now been fully endorsed by Admiral of the Fleet Lord Chatfield in his letter yesterday in the Times, London. In this Lord Chatfield said "it was not due to an unlucky hit in the magazine that the Hood was destroyed, but because she had to fight a ship 22 years more modern than herself. This was not the fault of British seamen, but a direct responsibility of those who opposed rebuilding of the British battle fleet until 1937, only two years before the war started."

W. E. G. CRISFORD.
1301 Topaz Ave.

JUTLAND

Mr. Crisford in his interesting letter regarding the Hood and "lucky hit" dealt with the Battle of Jutland. From information I have on hand regarding the battle, the British lost in killed 343 officers and 6,104 men. The Germans lost 172 officers and 2,414 men. What constitutes a naval victory?

ABSORBING THE TAX

There are many people in Victoria whose incomes have been reduced owing to the war, who will, I am sure, appreciate the action of the management of the York Theatre in absorbing the new amusement tax.

In times of horror and great suffering like the present there need be no complaint about financial hardship, yet in such times as these it is particularly desirable that amusement and distraction should be within the reach of all who may need it.

I hope, therefore, that this generous and patriotic gesture on the part of the management of this theatre will be quickly and adequately recognized by a great many people.

Congratulating you upon the number of interesting letters you publish in your paper.

Conscript Protests

VANCOUVER (CP)—Power of the Royal Netherlands Army to force Netherlands resident in Canada to report as conscripts for military service was questioned in B.C. Supreme Court here when Frederik Christian van Der Ree sought his release on a writ of habeas corpus from custody of city police, whom he said arrested him Tuesday at the request of Lieut.-Col. G. T. Sas of the Royal Netherlands Army.

Van Der Ree came to Canada with his father 17 years ago and is married and has one child. He was given release on his own recognition pending presentation of evidence.

LIVE LIKE MICE IN CITY OF DEATH

VICHY (AP)—When the Paris municipal council recently "adopted" Dunkerque for relief purposes, it took over a city where a deserted remnant of children and old people lead mouse-like lives in cellars and roofless homes among ruins that still hold the bodies of some of their neighbors.

The 12,000 inhabitants left out of 100,000 in the town and its suburbs, living in the one-fifth of the buildings which are still standing, exist in shattered homes with caved-in roofs, doorless doorways and windows without panes, according to a description in the weekly newspaper Candide.

Eighty per cent of the houses in Dunkerque, including all public buildings, were destroyed or gutted at the time of the British evacuation. Fifty-one streets disappeared as all their buildings were razed; 40 others were badly smashed.

From 1,200 to 1,500 civilians were killed by the German bombardments of the town in May and June, 1940. In the ruins of one building alone there is an estimated minimum of 100 bodies still unrecovered.

The town's supplies come almost exclusively from Lille now, and are becoming increasingly scarce despite organized relief efforts.

Steel Protest

EDMONTON (CP)—Hon. E. C. Manning, Alberta Minister of Trade and Industry, issued a prepared statement here announcing the provincial government has sent a protest to the federal government and the Dominion Bridge Company against proposed transfer of a rolling-mill plant from Calgary to Vancouver.

Pigeon Arrested

NEW YORK (AP)—One pigeon was under arrest today and five others were sought by police who said the birds were used to fly policy game slips from way stations to a clearing house roof in Harlem. The bird spent the night in a Bronx police station, after being captured with two men accused of being policy game runners.

Lindbergh Attacks Roosevelt Policy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh told a rally against war here last night that if the United States attempts to follow the policy suggested by President Roosevelt in his broadcast Tuesday night "we will start a war between the hemispheres that may last for generations."

Replying directly to the President's fireside chat, Lindbergh declared:

"Our own President says that the safety of America lies in controlling the Cape Verde Islands off the coast of Africa. Even Hitler never made a statement like that. "Mr. Roosevelt claims that Hitler desires to dominate the world. But it is Mr. Roosevelt himself who advocates world domination when he says that it is our business to control the wars of Europe and Asia, and that we in America must dominate islands lying off the African coast."

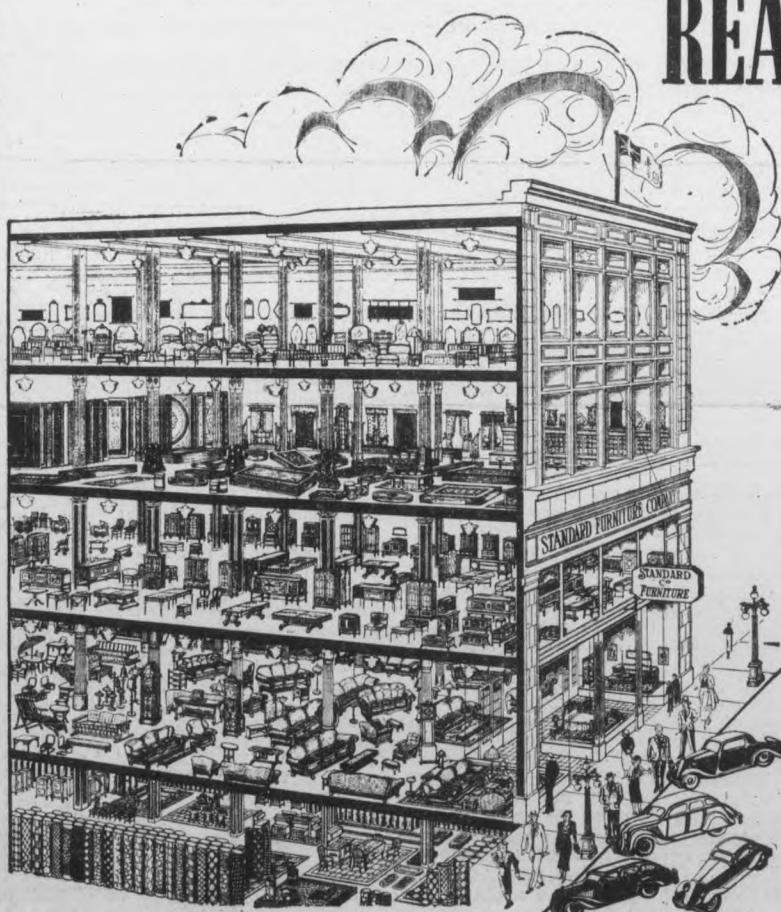

Many of China's children are said to suffer from vitamin deficiencies, causing such conditions as night-blindness, rickets, and beri-beri.

For a New Moral Order

THOSE ISOLATIONISTS IN THE UNITED States, also a few skeptics in Britain, who have clamored for a statement of British war aims or peace plans should find much to ally their misgivings in the speech Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, delivered in London yesterday. The important prerequisite to any discussion of precise details, of course, is the destruction of the totalitarian system and the liquidation of those physical agencies whose paramount objective is the imposition of serfdom on all freedom-loving peoples. But Mr. Eden did well to base his country's conception of postwar requirements on the ideals Mr. Roosevelt set forth in his message to the Congress of the United States at the beginning of the year. These were the four freedoms: Freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from fear. Amplifying this all-embracing framework, however, Britain's spokesman echoed the sentiments of the democracies when he stipulated unequivocally the vital necessity for "political and military terms" designed to place Germany in a position from which she never again could challenge world peace, or again become "the worst master Europe has yet known." Moreover, the Foreign Secretary's advocacy of a "New Moral Order"—in contradistinction to that propounded by the Axis—would enable the democracies to bring about such economic and social readjustments throughout the world as would give permanence to the fundamentals of that fourfold philosophy so simply enunciated by Mr. Roosevelt.

It was all to the good, too, that Mr. Eden recognized the lessons, and implications of the interregnum between World War No. 1 and World War No. 2, that no postwar order would produce universal benefit if it failed in its consummation of the resolve to re-establish economic health in every country—a plan of co-operation in which a Germany freed from Hitlerian terrorism would be required to play an important role. The development of "a system of international exchange in which trading of goods and services would be the central feature" was a reiteration, in different form, of United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull's recent declaration: "Institutions and arrangements of international finance must be so set up that they lend aid to the essential enterprises and continuous development of all countries and permit payment through processes of trade consonant with the welfare of all countries." There is the kernel of an international ideal which obviously must take cognizance of the plight in which those countries now under the Nazi yoke will find themselves after their liberation. And to the process of transition from war to peace the neighboring republic and the member states of the British Empire will be able to bring their collaborative resources and moral force. Most of these English-speaking countries, as Mr. Eden knows, will have a large surplus of food and other commodities essential for the job of reconstruction.

What will have to be guarded against in the most emphatic manner, however, is the element of greed among those who contributed to the discontents that produced the Hitler and the Mussolinis and, inevitably, the present conflict. There must be no place in the postwar world for the schemers, financial and political, who thrive on the product of suspicion and international unrest. The hydra-headed monster of economic nationalism must never again be allowed to raise its ugly form. Only by the revival of international trade on an honest basis will the four freedoms laid down by President Roosevelt, reiterated and endorsed by Mr. Eden, be realized and preserved. Without them, the "New Moral Order" to which Britain's Foreign Secretary referred, and on which the whole of the liberty-loving world has set its mind and heart, will remain a mythical blueprint of the shape of things to come.

Over to the Enemy

NO LONGER IS THERE ANY DOUBT where official France stands among the willing and unwilling subscribers to Hitler's new order in continental Europe. No longer is there any doubt about the attitude of Petain and Weygand. These two inseparables have evidently believed all along—and still do—that Germany and the Nazi philosophy will triumph in the end. It is pathetic when one considers the fact that the 85-year-old Marshal and his 74-year-old military chief might have changed the whole course of the war after France fell if they had thought more of their own and their country's honor than of preserving their political lives and synthetic authority. Had they chosen to carry on the fight from Africa, as Mr. Churchill had reason to hope they would, millions of Frenchmen and Frenchwomen today, butressed by their belief in eventual liberation, would have been holding their heads high. Where is the honor of which Marshal Petain spoke last summer? What is in the mind of Marshal Weygand as he prepares to assist the Axis in Africa?

It is painful to say farewell to France; difficult to contemplate the day when she will rise again under happier auspices; but she will. For the French people are good, and clean, and wholesome. None will discount the humiliation of military defeat which France suffered nearly a year ago. She had the sympathy and respect of millions the world over; hers was a sorry plight. Hope still existed that Petain and Weygand would find a way at least to assist her former ally in the stupendous task which confronted her after the melancholy ceremonial in the Forest of Compiègne. We had learned to expect much of France; hope died slowly. But none now remains. All we can say to the French people is that the forces of right and justice will one day wipe the smear with which her politicians have soiled her national escutcheon. How many of the French people ever were, or are now, behind Petain, or Darlan, or Laval, no one can truthfully say.

In the meantime, however, the Petains, the Darlans and the Lavals are allied with their Nazi taskmasters. No one compelled them to toe the German line; it was their decision and theirs alone. Apart from their actions, which no doubt, in some instances, were forced on them, they have given lip service to totalitarianism in its various forms; there was nothing compelling on this score. They have opened the gates of Tunisia and Syria to the German invader; Petain and Darlan have swallowed their own words and promises in respect of their attitude to France's former British ally. They have chosen to ride on the "wave of the future"—on which one may expect Darlan's navy to be launched when Berlin gives the word, with Weygand's army thrown in for good weight. Resolutely, then, we must push into the background for the moment the memory of Frenchmen who fought so gallantly for freedom, our own as well as theirs. We must forget, for the moment, that "Liberty, Fraternity and Equality" was born in France. We must not speculate, for the moment, that perhaps 90 per cent of Frenchmen still love freedom. For the moment, such force as France has is at the disposal of the Totalitarian Revolution. That is the fact, and the only fact, as it affects France, that bears on the situation today. We must wait for the France that will some day emerge without the barnacles that have fastened themselves on her national structure.

Alas, the Poor Panda

CONSIDER THE PATHETIC CASE OF Pandora the Panda, the idol of New York's Bronx Zoo, who died the other day. Physicians took particular pains when they conducted an autopsy on the body; they found the animal had succumbed to brain congestion which indicated a neurosis. Poor, perplexed panda! Surely the world in its present or even in any other state is difficult for us ordinary mortals to understand. But for Pandora the Panda, usually wanting little beyond sleep and a few bamboo shoots to munch, the perplexities of these times evidently were altogether too much. Pandas apparently do not thrive on pandemonium, and it is just possible that the Bronx Zoo's Pandora found herself unequal, try as she might, to the task of keeping abreast of the comings and goings of totalitarian statesmen, of the vapors of Goebbels and Gayda, or with the stigmatized world in general. There are no escapades like that of Rudolf Hess in panda-land; such goings on could only happen in that madder world inhabited by those human beings who must pride themselves, if only for the sake of preserving prestige, on what they unblushingly call their advanced civilization.

Bombers and Borders

HITLER'S "NEW ORDER" OF ADJUSTING border disputes is being amply demonstrated in Europe. There is another demonstration going on, however, of how to adjust borders without either bombs or bombast. It is in this Western Hemisphere. Peru has at last accepted, with some qualifications, true, but with evidence of sincerity, the offer of the United States, Argentina, and Brazil, to help to settle her 110-year dispute with Ecuador over certain rich lands in the Amazon headwaters. This acrid dispute has teetered on the edge of war many times, and if it can be thus amicably settled with brains instead of bombs, one more good example will have been set. The border between this country and the United States, once a subject of dispute that led to the edge of war, has not yet finally been settled. Certain surveys are even today being made along the Minnesota-Canadian border to determine the allegiance of more than 100 small islands. Thus, quietly, the Western World makes progress—brains instead of bombs. We do it by the agency of a Joint International Commission.

Experiments with wood as food have also produced an edible paper. Just the thing, we should say, for the trapped spy who must swallow the blueprint.

In Brazil, plastics extracted from the coffee bean are in production, and who knows—made up into cups, they might lend a coffee flavor to coffee.

DAINGEROUS ENEMY

From Ottawa Journal

Complacency, in this war, has been one of our most dangerous enemies; has fought, from the beginning, on the side of Hitler. We have cheered and been impressed by Mr. Churchill's courageous confidence of final victory; skipped his solemn warnings of perils and need for sacrifice. We have permitted ourselves to be lulled by tall and often silly tales of German shortages of oil or of something else. We have permitted wishful thinking, or exaggerations of isolated incidents, to blind us to the true pattern of the war.

It is time that we got over this nonsense; time we realized that we are fighting a powerful, ruthless, resourceful enemy, that we and all that we cherish are in desperate jeopardy, that only the last ounce of our strength and substance is going to bring us victory.

Bruce Hutchison

STRANGE THING

ONE HEARS, THESE days, a good deal about the Brave New World. Starry-eyed persons stop you on the street and ask you about the Glorious Future and eager youngsters hail the Hyde Park Agreement as the beginning of a better era when international trade barriers will be removed in America and wealth will flow where nature intended. I hope so. But I am a little disillusioned when I look at the present trade policies of Canada.

At present Britain is taking enormous quantities of goods from Canada, which she can't pay for in cash, because she lacks it. You would think we Canadians would take what goods we could get in return, and thus have something from our effort. You would think we would want the empty westbound Atlantic ships at least partially loaded with English products, at a time when we are told that goods of various sorts are going to be scarce here.

You would think so. But the protectionist interests are so strongly entrenched at Ottawa that the barrier against British goods remains. We will give Britain anything—goods, money, blood and treasure, but we will not give her markets. We will starve, if necessary, in her defence before we will admit her goods. And we remain, under a Liberal government, one of the tightest protectionist countries in the world. That is why I like to listen to the starchy-eyed folk, but I am not too easily persuaded. There is a lot of original sin in us yet.

TIMES THAT TRY MEN'S SOULS

Thomas Paine's message to Washington's soldiers at Valley Forge:

"These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman."

"Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph."

"What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives everything its proper value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed if so celestial an article as freedom should not be highly rated."

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT ON AID TO BRITAIN

"As long as England succeeds in keeping up the balance of power in Europe, not only on principle, but in reality, well and good; should she however for some reason or other fail in doing so, the United States would be obliged to step in at least temporarily, in order to re-establish the balance of power in Europe, never mind against which country or group of countries our efforts may have to be directed. In fact, we ourselves are becoming, owing to our strength and geographical situation, more and more the balance of power of the whole globe."—President Theodore Roosevelt in 1905.

NEW YORK WANTS A PARTY

From New York Post

H.M.S. Malaya, the British battleship whose armor was torn by a torpedo somewhere in the Atlantic, has been in New York harbor since April 6.

Why don't we throw a party for her? Secrecy about the Malaya, of course, has a place only in the never-never past. Even that first day when the heavy hand of censorship was fumbling around, it was a secrecy which looked like a sieve held up against the sun. By now, there isn't a pretence left. The Malaya's address is New York City, for the world to know.

So why shouldn't the city express to the Malaya's officers and men the thrill and good wishes that it feels in having them here?

There is no possible doubt but that New York is pleased that the Malaya's wounds are being patched up in our docks. It admires the Malaya's fighting record. It has seen the crew night after night, ashore on good behavior.

Let's return some of the hospitality that the Australian and New Zealand ports lavished on our visiting sailors last winter. Let's welcome them at City Hall, stage an eye-filling entertainment and make New York a warm memory to them forever.

TRI-LINGUAL?

Butterfield in Vancouver Province

Canada is by law a bi-lingual country. A man may address the national Parliament in either English or French (not, look you, Angus, in British—but in English), the record of Hansard is printed in both languages and so are all the proceedings and orders that mean so much in parliamentary life.

It is now proposed by our Scottish brethren to demand of the CBC that there shall be established broadcasts in the Gaelic tongue and that they shall be kept up to a certain standard.

This seems to open up a grave question of the rights of our more colorful minorities. There are very many who speak Gaelic in this country, but even the most enthusiastic of them will admit that they also speak and understand English—otherwise how would they proceed with the Scottish duty of shaking down the Sassenach.

With two official languages going full blast on the air it hardly seems the path of reason to gum-up the ether waves with a third which is purely a matter of pride and amusement. If they couldn't understand English there might be some reason in it, but they do.

We might as well put on a program for our Norse, Swedish, German, Polish and other minorities—indeed, with more reason—for many of these do not understand our language.

Elmore Philpott

THE BATTLE now going on in and around Crete is being watched by the various war experts in all the different countries because it is a sort of laboratory test between different schools of thought.

The most spectacular phase, of course, centres about the air-borne invasion. Can air craft alone carry enough troops, equipment and supplies to give battle to a defending army equipped according to the orthodox rules of war? If so, Crete will not be the last island to be attacked by swarms of soldiers descending from the skies.

But a far more important argument than that indicated above is being settled, at least in part, by what is happening in the waters around Crete. To what extent has air power limited the usefulness of sea power? What if it is true that swarms of Nazi dive bombers have taken such heavy toll of Royal Naval craft that the latter have been forced drastically to limit their activities?

Nobody over here can hope to know the answers to these questions, as yet. But some things we do know already, for they are not disputed by any report from either side.

The first is that the Navy, regardless of punishment suffered, was able to prevent the landing of any sea-borne troops or equipment. And in carrying out this task the Navy was able to inflict terribly heavy losses on the enemy.

The second fact offsets the encouragement of number one. The Nazis were able to land and maintain troops not so well armed as the defenders. In all the battles that have been fought in Europe to date, German successes have been subsequently explained on the ground that our enemy had all the tanks and dive bombers and hence we could not stand against him.

In Crete we see the folly of that argument. The Germans have all along and everywhere been superior, not only in war machines for use on land and in the air, but they have been overwhelmingly superior in man power.

THE MAN COUNTS MOST

If the battle of Crete is lost it will be lost for sheer lack of having on the spot more of the kind of troops of which we have thousands and thousands in Canada, of which some of the best battalions have been enlisted since the first month of the war. Reports from some military observers suggest that half of all the air-borne troops—whether they came by parachute, glider, or were landed by planes—were killed, wounded, or captured before they could take one step on the actual ground. This is just another proof that human losses mean nothing to Hitler, at least so long as he has plenty more men to lose. But that fact should spur us on to raising, at the earliest possible moment, the largest armed force that we can possibly raise.

By all means let us raise a big enough Empire tank force and air force to man all the machines we can possibly make, buy or borrow. But meanwhile let us not continue to repeat the tragic folly of imagining that ordinarily armed infantry divisions are obsolete.

INVASION REHEARSAL?

If the attack on Crete was a sort of laboratory test to see what might happen when the Nazis try to go into Britain, we have no reason to be downhearted. There is less reason than ever to believe that Hitler could establish and maintain sea communication between the continent and Britain. Without that maintained communication he could neither land the heavy war material which he would need; nor could he keep an invading army adequately supplied.

On the other hand the experience in Crete suggests that the Nazis can, whenever they so desire, land a considerable air-borne army in Britain. But even an army of some hundred thousand would have no chance whatever against a people where more than 4,000,000 men are in the actual armed forces, and admirably equipped for the kind of war which would necessarily follow an invasion by air.

My guess is that if Hitler attempts an invasion of Britain he will shorten the war by a matter of some years—for a defeat in such an attempt would bring to a head the long-threatened rupture between the Nazi party and the army.

But an invasion, if it does come, will be an all-out affair, with poison gas and all the other weapons still in reserve. What is happening in Crete should tend to dissipate any overconfidence there may still be as to the inevitability of the outcome.

AN HISTORIC PARALLEL

From Winnipeg Free Press

When Winston Churchill published his "Marlborough" which he wrote during the years when he was a lone voice in Parliament and regarded by his powerful enemies as a spent force, he received a letter from his friend, the late T. E. Lawrence, in which occurs a paragraph to which attention is drawn by a writer in a New York literary weekly. Lawrence wrote:

"How odd that Marlborough's strength should have grown while he was waiting and sleeping, shelved and inactive. This gives an idea of his bigness. I never realized that he attained his premier power without trying for it."

The writer suggests that his unenviable faculty of prevision moved Lawrence to write these words to comfort and encourage his friend who was then undergoing the experience of exclusion from power which his famous ancestor had suffered. But even if the quality of prophecy is withdrawn from the observation, the coincidence between the fates of Marlborough and Churchill, separated by more than two centuries, remains remarkable and noteworthy.

PROSPERITY IN THE CARIBOO

From Bridge River News

When a rancher gets $90 for a three-year-old steer he begins to feel he is not altogether a forgotten man.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "How was his decorum?"
2. What is the correct pronunciation of "qui vive" (on the alert)?
3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Convalescent, emigrant, immigrant.
4. What does the word "impeccability" mean?
5. What is a word beginning with f that means "sly; secret; stealthy"?

ANSWERS

1. Say, "How was his conduct?" One's conduct may be good or otherwise, but decorum means good conduct, and requires no modifier. 2. Pronounce ke-vev, both e's in me, accent last syllable. 3. Immigrant. 4. Sinlessness, (pronounce second syllable peck, accent follows the l). "The impeccability of the minister was not questioned." 5. Furtive.

Imaginary Bazaar To Aid Scottish Raid Victims

"Why is it necessary to have bazaars? Why not give our little without all this work?"

These two questions which have exercised many women who are anxious to help various causes but feel that all too often bazaars and such undertakings spell much work and little profit, are being answered in ingenious fashion by the Women's Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

MRS. C. W. HAWKINS

To raise funds for its war work, the guild is sponsoring an Imaginary Bazaar, the entire proceeds of which will be sent to air raid sufferers in Scotland. In a neat little pamphlet the guild has issued its reminds members and would-be patrons of three advantages of such a bazaar: 1. You need not go to it. 2. You need not buy anything. 3. You waste neither time, temper nor money. All that is real are the receipts.

As a suggestion for those who wish to support such a bazaar, the guild has prepared a small scale of suggested donations, among them being the following: Car fare or gas to and from the hall, 12 cents; entrance and tea, 25 cents; wear and tear on clothes and shoeleather, 10 cents; contributions to booth, no limit; articles purchased, no limit.

As a reward for such donations the guild promises "a free afternoon (priceless gift), a good conscience and a chance to help where help is urgently needed."

This Imaginary Bazaar is to be held on Monday, June 2, the regular date of the guild's monthly meeting. Imaginary booth conveners are Mrs. Lewis McLean, Mrs. James Stewart, Mrs. William Head, Mrs. George Sanson, Mrs. A. Alexander, Mrs. D. Reid, Mrs. D. Scott and Mrs. C. W. Hawkins, the president, and any of these ladies would be glad to receive contributions, or such may be sent to the minister, Rev. Lewis McLean.

Tan Day to Aid Children's Ward

To raise much-needed funds for the fitting up of the new children's ward at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, the Daughters of Pity will hold a tag day tomorrow.

The Daughters of Pity is a little group of young women who for a number of years have devoted all their activities to the children's ward at the hospital, providing entertainment at Christmas and other holiday times for the little patients, giving ice cream and other "treats" on various occasions, as well as providing linen, furnishings and equipment from time to time as needed.

The tag day is the only occasion on which they appeal to the public, raising funds to carry on by teas and sales of work among the members. The members feel confident that the public will again respond generously to this appeal on behalf of suffering little ones.

RETIRED FARMER DIES

Much amusement was created by the making of a scrap book of clippings and photographs concerning Miss Stanley and Mr. Hayward, for presentation to them. FIRST UNITED Y.P.U.

The First United Y.P.U. held their annual closing banquet Tuesday evening. After supper a short program included a singing led by Muriel Prendergast, recitations by Rev. Thos. Menzies, vocal solo by Iona McDiarmid, recitation by Mr. Hardy and an address by Rev. H. McLeod.

The people of Canada are asked to supply these comforts through the Canadian Red Cross Society. Knitted comforts made according to directions in Red Cross knitting books are most desirable. Larger supplies of civilian clothing of the type Red Cross workers have been making are most needed. No gifts to the Red Cross are being refused but they must be of new material as shipping space is scarce. Money donations will be acceptable to purchase boots and shoes, men's jackets and trousers, rubber boots, shoes and helmets, woolen underclothing, asbestos and leather gloves, stockings, etc.

"Our men and women need these supplies badly," says Mr. Morrison. "They are working ceaselessly, day in and day out, under incredible dangers. They are fighting fires, driving ambulances, doing rescue work, caring for the injured, and digging out victims of bombing raids. They are standing side by side with all our fighting forces."

A new low-price black paint for blackout use has been developed in England.

Barbarolli Now In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Memories of a long rambling house on the wooded slopes of the North Shore which lingered with John Barbarolli all last winter as he conducted the New York Philharmonic Orchestra through 105 concerts have brought the famous conductor and his wife back here for another holiday.

"I've been looking forward to this for months," he said as he arrived here yesterday. "We had such a lovely time on the North Shore last summer we made up our minds to return as soon as the season was over."

Barbarolli hopes to stay until the end of July, when he will go to Los Angeles to open the summer symphony season.

Music

MRS. GREEN AT LITTLE THEATRE

Departing from its field of entertainment, the Victoria Little Theatre Association last night presented Gertrude Huntly Green in a piano recital at the new Little Theatre, Langham Court.

There being no printed programs, the charm of a delightful evening was enhanced by Mrs. Green who, in announcing her numbers, added comments and descriptive notes with a humor and intimate quality that brought the artist and her audience into unusually close contact, creating an atmosphere of complete relaxation and sympathy. It would be safe to say that this famous artist now making her home in Victoria has never been heard to greater advantage.

From a generous and comprehensive program it is difficult to select highlights. Mrs. Green's art is both lyric and dramatic; in either mood her interpretations are emotionally born and intellectually controlled so that never is the true spirit of the music clouded by sentiment or lost through practical and technical skill.

FIRST GROUP

The first group opened with the "Ave Maria" by Henselt and was followed by a Bach Chorale from the Easter Cantata, "Jesus Christ, Son of God," played with the simple dignity which best reveals all the rich beauty of the polyphonic music. Two Beethoven dances came next, the Peasant and Contre dance, delightful composition, too seldom heard; the delicate Gluck-Brahms Gavotte played with enchanting rhythmic grace, and the Scherzo from the F minor Sonata of Brahms, which left one longing to hear the other movements interpreted by this artist who seemed to recreate the very essence of Brahms.

In the second group Mrs. Green played one of the less well-known preludes of Rachmaninoff, in G major; "Prophet Bird" of Schumann, which she played with an elusive quality that created an eerie atmosphere, and the McDowell "Anna Domini 1620," which suggests the approach to this continent of the pilgrims in the Mayflower.

To flourish the final group was devoted, and here both lyric and dramatic qualities were heard at their best. The beautiful poetic Fantasia in F minor, which is so pianistic and so suited to the pianist's effortless style; two Mazurkas in which Chopin's Polish nationality was sympathetically defined, and finally the brilliant Ballade in A flat which seemed to embrace all the outstanding beauty and artistry of the evening.

For encores, Mrs. Green added the Liszt "Liebestraum," a Lullaby by Barron and the Bach, "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring." Commenting that she had omitted one of her numbers, inadvertently, she then played the "Zephyr Study," by Moszkowski with dazzling speed and delicacy.

At the close of the program, the artist was presented with an arm bouquet of red roses and fern by Harry Davis, president of the association. Mention must be made of the beautiful floral arrangements, the stage being banked with early summer flowers, making a perfect setting for the artist. This was the work of Mrs. Curtis Sampson and Mrs. L. A. Genge. —Audrey St. Denis Wood.

Polish Woman Fled From Nazis Via Germany

OTTAWA (CP)—Escape to liberty by first going into Germany instead of away from it was the astute and paradoxical method employed by "Madame J" when she left her Polish homeland after the German invasion in 1939.

While thousands were fleeing east and north ahead of the Germans in attempts to reach Britain and America, says Madame J... "I went in the opposite direction, believing that nobody would suspect a Pole of going directly into the mouth of the Nazi dragon."

The other day she sat in the Polish Consulate and described her adventures in the amazingly good English she has acquired since her arrival in America three months ago. Her golden-blond hair, blue eyes and more than average height which she declared to be "typical Polish" were particularly striking.

"We might almost be called typically 'Aryan' if Hitler hadn't defiled the word," she said. Under her feet lay the beautiful handwoven rug which she said she had last seen in happier times in the Royal Wawel Palace of Poland. It too had been smuggled out along with many other Polish art treasures.

GOT SICK LEAVE

Madame J... (who remains unnamed for the sake of relatives still in Poland) was ill at the time the Germans invaded her country. She got a certificate from her doctor to go to Vienna for a special kind of treatment and passed through enemy territory in some miraculous way which—as she remarked—suggests Nazi methods may not be so thorough as Dr. Goebbels would have them believed to be.

Later escaping to Switzerland she volunteered her services to the International Red Cross at Geneva and served there for many months. "I saw many letters from Canada during those months," she said. "But mostly I was employed in trying to get in touch with people in Poland for relatives and friends outside." Among those she tried to contact was her own soldier husband whom she feared must be given up for dead. Just a year later, in October, 1940, he arrived in Switzerland after an amazing escape.

Speaking French without an accent, Polish, German as well as having a general knowledge of several other European languages and the classic base of Latin and Greek, Madame J... is well on her way to fluent English. "People I've met seem surprised to know there were seven universities in Poland," she said. "And I was surprised to learn in the United States that people speak only one language—even many who are highly educated and cultured."

LISBON'S FLOTSAM

From Switzerland further flight was necessary to Lisbon. Today, she said, Lisbon is one of the strangest cities in the world. Those people fortunate enough to have visas for America are considered transient visitors. For these life is not difficult. But for those without visas the situation was and is tragic.

"They must stay outside the city in the suburbs and villages and in camps," she said. "Food, accommodation and aid of any kind is difficult to get. There are many—so many that their 30-day permit runs out before they get their visas and they risk being sent back to the country they came from. Because of the many thousands milling about hopelessly seeking visas the whole system is bogged down."

Madame J... lost her personal belongings three times, arriving in New York, "without even an how you call it—evening gown to sleep in or a toothbrush."

The load in the plane was so great they could take no luggage so she left Lisbon in a light summer frock suitable for Portugal and she shivered upon arrival in New York.

The annual meeting of the Cedar Hill Parent-Teachers' Association was held Wednesday evening. The retiring president, Mr. L. G. Scott, paid high tribute to the co-operation and ability of the teachers and past executive. The secretary's annual report showed the accomplishments of the association during the year measured up to the best found anywhere. The treasurer, Miss R. W. Walton, reported a satisfactory balance on hand. The school picnic was set for June 20 at Mt. Douglas Park. Elections resulted as follows: Mrs. M. L. Brown, president; honorary president, Mr. A. Cullen; first vice-president, Mrs. E. Bissenden; second vice-president, Mrs. Brooker; executive members, Mrs. W. S. Morry, Miss B. Hagerman, Mrs. E. J. Harwood and Mrs. McGee and Mr. Lewis.

The Senior W.A. of St. Alban's Church will hold its closing meeting on Monday at 2.30 in the hall. Mrs. England, of Qu'Appelle diocese, will speak.

A program of light opera selections was presented by local artists last night at the clubrooms of the Victoria Grand Opera Association. The program brought the opera season almost to a close, a similar program tomorrow evening being the last.

Peggy Moore, Olive Batchelor, Phyllis Lockley, Vivian McCall and David Oldham took leading roles in selections from Sidney Jones' "The Greek Slave," and these artists were supported by Peggy Bell, Frances Street, Mabel Alspen, Audrey Lovell and Marjorie Barker.

Vivian McCall took the role of Carmen in a presentation of the second scene of Bizet's popular opera. Ralph Fromson took the part of Don Jose.

The well-known dancer, Sonya, performed in the "Dance of the Dying Swan." The program came to an end with the second act of "The Chimes of Normandy" by Planquette, starring Fraser Lister as Gaspard. Others in the cast included Peggy Moore, Olive Batchelor, James A. McVie, Arthur Jackman and William Cobbett.

The scenery was prepared by Hope Large. Costumes were designed by Marjorie Barker, and Horace Culver directed the lighting effects.

DID YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE TODAY?

Do you really know why constipation is so harmful?

You probably know that constipation sets up poisons in the large intestine or colon. But do you know that these poisons seep through the walls of the colon and infect the bloodstream? They set up toxic accumulations in kidneys and liver and are contributing causes of rheumatic pains, sciatica and backache.

Most laxatives only act in the colon. Kruschen does more. It is the laxative with a double action. Besides ridding the colon of stagnating waste matter, Kruschen's mineral salts have a diuretic action. They flush the kidneys, help to clear the bloodstream of all poisonous matter, and so protect your whole system from that form of infection.

You can get Kruschen from all drug stores. Prices 75c, and 25c.

Victory Loan Drive

City To Be Camouflaged For Opening on Monday

Victoria will be camouflaged this week-end. The downtown streets will have pillboxes situated at focal points, replicas of tanks protruding over imitation terrain, and building entrances sandbagged, and made into dug-out entrances.

All unit headquarters will be similarly camouflaged by the military department, while the streets will be strung with streamers carrying appeals to the public to support the Victory Loan campaign, which opens on Monday.

Today teams of volunteers called on merchants in the downtown area with display cards. Wherever possible, merchants are requested to make a display of these posters with flag and bunting background, and if possible exhibits of mementoes of the First World War.

Victoria division has to raise

$5,400,000 as its quota of the $600,000,000 loan. Officials point out that this division hopes to secure an honor award by exceeding its quota. They think that if Australia can oversubscribe its loan by 80 per cent, Canada should be able to do the same.

"Help the canvassers help you to put the campaign over the top," is the appeal headquarters is making to the public. "The canvassers have a tough assignment. They have to make 25,000 calls in the Greater Victoria area before this campaign is ended. Forbearance in regard to duplication of calls is also asked, inasmuch as such duplication cannot be avoided in a task of this magnitude."

City Hall Briefs

Power and Light Rate Brief Ready

Victoria's brief on the light and power question is virtually complete and will be ready for consideration by the provincial public utilities commission, when that body sits next month on the B.C. Electric rate schedules, F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, stated today.

Drafts of the brief have been extended to take in technical data on the question prepared by J. Muirhead, Vancouver expert.

The suggestion that the city concentrate its Victory Loan decorations on the City Hall block and the region immediately adjoining the public library will be made by the celebrations committee to the public works group. The former, yesterday, asked all owners of business premises to co-operate in the decoration scheme. The committee also offered to take over from the parks committee arrangement of band concerts this year if the parks body allocates to the celebrations committee the fund placed in its budget for that purpose.

Letters from Nanaimo and New Westminster, stating those cities are prepared to adopt daylight saving time only on a national scale and on federal instructions, to avoid confusion caused by local changes, were received today.

Endorsement of the city's negotiations with H. B. Olson for establishment of an ice rink at the Horse Show Building was conveyed in a letter from the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Victoria Community Ice Arena Committee. The group also expressed thanks to the city for its co-operation in efforts made by the committee.

Establishment of a city by-law including punitive clauses for infractions of fair weights and measures regulations is suggested in a letter from federal authorities forwarded to the city by R. W. Mayhew, M.P. Ottawa jurisdiction over punishment for violation of the Weights and Measures Act deals specifically with the weights and measures themselves, the letter said.

There's the type of nursery man who provides for raising young plants. Then there's the type of nursery he establishes for his own offspring. The two are combined by a robin in the Beacon Hill Park greenhouse. The bird nested in one of the hanging baskets being prepared under the glass for city lamp-standards. When park employees moved them to trucks for distribution, they found the mother bird on the nest ready to continue sitting even if the house were moved under her. So they returned the basket to the greenhouse pending the arrival of the nestlings.

In the relatively undisturbed habitat of Goodacre Lake a mother swan is raising a brood of four cygnets, the parks superintendent reported.

A permit for $6,500 extensions to vault facilities at the Royal Bank of Canada, 1108 Government Street, was issued to D. W. Burnett, contractor, by the city building inspector's department yesterday.

'Hiawatha' Will Be Presented Monday

Conductors Stanley Bulley and Phillip Hughes have arranged a musical feast for the concert to be given in aid of the Red Cross Society at the Willows Sports Centre next Tuesday evening at 8. Light, tuneful music will keynote the program and will include such favorites as "Rule Britannia," "Rolling Down to Rio" and "Drake's Drum."

Samuel Coleridge Taylor, whose "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" and "Hiawatha's Departure" forms the major work to be presented, was placed in the forefront of composers at the early age of 23, when the "Wedding Feast" was produced to a captivated audience at the Royal College of Music, London. The appeal of this work has never faded, so rich is it in simple melodies and colorful orchestration. The tenor solo, "Onaway, Awake Beloved" is universally acclaimed as one of the finest love songs ever written.

All the performers, chorists, instrumentalists and conductors are giving their services without remuneration. Indeed, they have undertaken to meet the entire heavy cost of the music themselves so that the maximum sum will be made available for the activities of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Popular-priced tickets may be obtained at Fletcher Bros., Douglas Street, and at the door on the night of the concert.

New Hi-Y President Elected Wednesday

Ernest "Tiek" McCoy was elected 1941-42 president of the Victoria Hi-Y Club Wednesday at a meeting in the house of Alan Roper, the immediate past president. Hubert Cumberbirch addressed the meeting after the election.

Plans for the annual student-teacher banquet were completed. The affair will be held next Tuesday at the "Y" building, after which an induction ceremony will be held in the Metropolitan United Church.

Victorians Open Hall at Comox

Headed by Joe Wittcomb, naval representative of the Dominion Executive Council, Canadian Legion, 20 members of the Victoria branches of the legion Wednesday opened the new recreation hall for ratings stationed there.

The visitors, whose number included Alderman B. J. Gadsden, were welcomed by the local committee and executive of the Comox branch.

Leaders of the Women's Auxiliary of the Comox branch and others who had assisted in the construction of the hall were introduced before Mr. Wittcomb was called upon to declare the new quarters ready for use.

Mr. Wittcomb thanked the branch for the honor conferred upon him and Victoria delegates in having them open the hall, expressed appreciation for the co-operation shown by local residents and various organizations in the construction of the building, stating it filled a long-felt need as an entertainment centre for naval forces in the locality. He paid particular tribute to Comox veterans for their zeal and untiring work in securing the building and read telegrams from Hon. Angus McDonald, Minister of Naval Affairs, and the officer commanding the Esquimalt station, congratulating Comox on its new acquisition.

Taking the key from the president of the local committee, he unlocked the doors and turned the hall over to Lieut. Com. L. Harrison, in charge of the Comox station.

Refreshments were served in the main games room, which, with a writing room and kitchen, occupies the main floor. Offices of the Comox Branch of the Canadian Legion are located on the second floor.

Continual War On Northwest Frontier

The Northwest frontier of India is always at war. There it is a case of the survival of the fittest. That was the statement of Col. F. O. St. John, who served with the British army in India for 22 years. He spoke to the Kinsmen Club last night.

Col. St. John drew a contrast between the comparatively peaceful and safe existence enjoyed in Canada and the hazardous life one would experience amid the mysteries of India. "In the East," the speaker said, "there is no such thing as truth, and a man is considered a fool by those east of Suez if he is truthful." He said that the longer one stayed in India the less he understood it. In Europe, he said, there is strife because people, speaking 26 different languages, cannot get along together. In India there are 574 different languages and intense hatred between the two most important inhabitants, the Hindus and the Mohammedans.

He mentioned that hillmen on the Northwest frontier joined the British army and proved to be good fighters, but as soon as they were given leave they rejoined their people and fought against the army in which they served. At the end of their leave they would return and become soldiers of the King again. "These people fight because they love it," the colonel said.

He told of the great wealth secreted in this country, and said that it is popularly conceived that the Nizam of Hyderabad had enough riches to pay off the war debts of the entire world. He mentioned the practice of Yogi and mesmerization, and personal contact he had with these amazing Oriental mysteries.

A car owned by F. Lane, 488 Cecilia Street, crashed into an empty garage at 472 Cecilia Street Wednesday night, Constables S. Holmes and Ray Maitland of the city police reported today. Mr. Lane said he left the car outside his home with the brakes set and the motor in gear. Neighbors said they heard a crash between 12 and 1 and at 8 this morning the car was discovered about 250 feet down the road. It had smashed through the front doors of the garage and broken the rear wall.

FAR EAST FIGHT TOLD ROTARIANS

"It's more 'blitzkrieg' than blitzkrieg," is the way Dr. A. J. Brace, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in China for 25 years, describes Japanese talk of southern expansion in the direction of the Dutch East Indies.

"The United States would never allow them into that territory," he said in an address to the Rotary Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"The Chinese have been fighting our battle for four years," continued Dr. Brace, who is a veteran of the South African War and the Great War and who is a personal friend of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

"The Chinese are holding up against the Japanese in a remarkable way and it is because they are holding that we still have Singapore," he said.

Dr. Brace described the opening of the Burma Road by the British last year after the Chinese had completed the last 600 miles of it "practically with bare hands."

In those 600 miles there were 700 bridges, the speaker said. Young Chinese engineers volunteered the job of constructing the road because they said it was their patriotic duty.

The road which consisted of 15,000 miles of road in China and 800 miles of railway in Burma, served Britain. British ships called at Rangoon and loaded with such necessities as tea, silk, wood oil and bristles from the interior of China.

FUEL DISTILLERIES

There were 10,000 North American trucks operating on the road at the present time. Because of gasoline shortage the Chinese devised a mechanism which would allow use of alcohol to run the trucks. Fourteen distilleries had been constructed for the job of supplying the fuel.

Dr. Brace said the Japanese were not doing as much damage to the roads as they claimed and when one section was bombed, the Chinese were quick to make repairs.

"There is hope for the democracies when you see how the Chinese are standing up against the Japanese onslaught," the doctor concluded.

'Y' Swimmers Practice

In preparation for the summer schedule the executive of the Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club will hold a meeting at the "Y" building on Wednesday evening. Dates of picnics and swim meets will be discussed.

Wednesday saw a record turnout for the swimming club at the organization's pool. A capacity crowd of juvenile, junior and senior swimmers filled the pool, practicing for forthcoming outdoor events.

The Monterey P.T.A. met on Tuesday evening in the school auditorium, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, the president, in the chair. Following the business, Harry Dee gave a talk on the subject of visual education. He described the various mechanical aids to make such teaching even more effective, such as still and moving projectors, and told how the lessons were prepared and usually delivered before the films, especially m.v.i. films, were shown.

Mr. Dee stated Victoria has eight moving-picture projectors in the 10 city schools and that films are so routed that each school has two or three showings each week. The annual meeting will be held in the school auditorium next Tuesday evening for election and installation of officers.

An organizing meeting will be held tonight at 8 at the Labor Hall under the joint auspices of the Trades and Labor Council, the Retail Clerks' Union and the Truck Drivers' Union. The meeting will be open to all store clerks, warehousemen and drivers at the stores.

Senator Taylor's Death Found Accidental

UNITY, Sask. (CP)—The coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Senator James Davis Taylor, 77-year-old New Westminster resident and publisher of the British Columbian, has found here that Mr. Taylor fell from the window of his compartment in a speeding eastbound train "under accidental circumstances."

The bruised body, clad in pyjamas, was found beside the right-of-way of the Canadian National Railways, near Vera, May 11.

Dr. W. A. Clark of New Westminster, who for some time had treated the senator for a heart condition, suggested his patient had suffered an acute heart attack on the train, made an effort to rise from his bed and in so doing had pulled the light switch. He suggested Senator Taylor had used a foot rest to smash the window in his compartment in order to get air, and, in a semi-conscious condition, had accidentally tumbled from the window when the train lurched.

Einstoss Convicted On Racing Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bernard (Mooney) Einstoss, named by prosecutors as head of a widespread horse racing fixing conspiracy, has been convicted of four counts of contributing to the delinquency of minor jockeys.

Einstoss was ordered to appear Tuesday for sentence and was permitted to remain at liberty on bail.

During the 10 weeks' trial, jockeys and other state witnesses testified Einstoss paid riders on California tracks for keeping their horses from winning.

Baptist Rally Nears End

The world is vainly trying to cure its ills from without instead of from within, Rev. W. MacKenzie MacIntosh of Spokane said last night at the convention of Baptist Churches of British Columbia.

"From within proceeds a nation's health," he said, and added that it was from within that the Nazis and Fascists sought to weaken the moral fibre of their enemies.

Mr. MacIntosh stated that 100 magazines of salacious character had been banned from Canada. These magazines, he said, were the work of propagandists seeking to undermine and weaken the character of the people of America.

God provided a cure for the world's ills, Mr. MacIntosh said, and God's law should prevail in every sphere of human activity. Christ was the light of the world and was not to be confined to churches.

Rev. T. J. Hind addressed the convention on evangelism. To catch the spirit of evangelism, he said, one must have the conviction that all who are without Christ are lost and an inward urge to express this conviction, and to gain the spirit of evangelism one must get in touch with Christ through persistent prayer and study and must do something for Christ, thereby obtaining power to do more.

A worship service preceding the main addresses was conducted by Rev. Duncan MacNab.

Earlier, the convention passed a resolution adopting in principle the idea of Bible training in the schools.

A plan announced recently by Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, minister of education, provides that students may earn credits in the high school grades for Bible study outside school, if a suitable syllabus for extra-mural Bible instruction is approved.

Mr. MacIntosh addressed the afternoon session on "The Storm Stilled," declaring that the peace after the present war would be comparable to the calm after

Man Bites Dog

Here is Jiggs, a watch dog, resting as comfortably as could be expected in a veterinary hospital at Peoria, Ill., after a scuffle with Melvin Price, a dairy worker. In the encounter, Jiggs bit Price and Price bit Jiggs.

Melvin Price is being cared for, also in hospital, after the "man bites dog" battle. There's no record of who took the first bite.

'No Air Invasion Of Britain'—Halifax

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times in a Washington dispatch today quoted Viscount Halifax as saying in an interview that the lesson learned in Crete will deter Hitler from attempting an invasion of Great Britain.

"Crete has shown the military experts of the world," the ambassador said, "the difficulty of parachutists landing on an island even by a nation with preponderant air power, which Germany was able to muster off the coast of Greece. In Britain, where our air force is very strong, an invasion would be many times more difficult if not impossible."

Lord Halifax said that in attaining the success so far gained in Crete, the Germans "have paid a disproportionately heavy price." By Britain's stout defence "we have gained what will probably be a decisive advantage for General Wavell, who now is able to turn the balance of the scales against the Nazis in Iraq."

By PETE SALLAWAY

JOE LOUIS may not be the fighter he was a few years back, but after looking over a preview of the picture of his recent controversial championship bout with Buddy Baer in Washington, D.C., the big Detroit Negro is still going to pack our dough for some time to come. Guest of Cliff Denham, manager of the Dominion Theatre, where the film opened a three-day run today, we watched Joe hit Baer with everything but the kitchen sink to finish his evening's chores at the end of the sixth round.

There is no doubt in our mind that Louis hit Baer after the bell ending the sixth heat. But we must say the sound of the gong was pretty faint, and it is no wonder he missed it. In our opinion, the blow that resulted in so much discussion was thrown at least two seconds after the bell. Louis had gone to a neutral corner and after the bell he stalked three steps across the ring and hung a beautiful ring cross on Baer's unprotected jaw to send him crashing to the canvas. Baer had been down previously as the result of a short right hook direct to the jaw.

The fight ended when Baer refused to answer the bell to open the seventh round. From the picture it looked like Max's younger brother had had enough fight for one night. He can be clearly seen shaking his head as his handlers tried to get him ready to resume fighting. As a matter of fact, the blow Louis landed after the bell had nothing to do with the final outcome of the fight. Baer was punched to a pulp and would have gone down for good in the seventh or eighth rounds. He was ripe for the kill.

As early as the second round Louis started to soften up Baer. After watching the Negro in action it is easily understood just how he wins fights. Against Baer his timing was perfect. He had the one-two down to perfection. Time after time Louis picked off Baer with a left jab and followed with a cutting right cross to the button. The pictures are the best fight flickers we have seen. The cameras were located at perfect spots and the action is real close. Every important punch is clearly depicted.

Baer certainly proved himself willing to mix it with the champion. During the six rounds he attempted to carry the fight to the Bomber but had little success owing to the great defence of the Detroit veteran. Only time Louis was in trouble when the giant Baer leaned on him and pushed him around. In that fatal sixth round Baer rallied after taking a "carload" of punishment and several short lefts and rights had Louis worried but he never backed up. Joe was inside Baer most of the time.

Other highlight of the fight was in the first round when Baer knocked and pushed Louis out through the ropes. There was no question of his going through the hemp. The champion split the top and second strands to fall onto the apron. But, unlike Dempsey in that famous incident with Luis Firpo, the Negro was unruffled. He just took his time and climbed back into the ring unassisted. He was certainly not hurt. Louis went out through the combination of a short left hook and a push. Baer appeared to catch Louis off balance and his knee was also a big help in shoving Joe out of the ring.

The pictures certainly show Baer to be one big man. He towers far above Louis, and standing alongside his seconds Buddy looks like the real giant he is. He entered the ring at 237 pounds while Louis fought at 201. But Baer, like so many big fellows, moves and reacts slow. He fails to show anything near the smoothness of the Brown Panther.

Softball Scores

Marking their fourth straight victory, Longshoremen-Causeway Service softball team last night defeated H.M.C. Dockyard 9 to 2 at Victoria West Park. Six runs scored in the fourth inning decided the issue.

In a game at Sidney, McDonald Electric defeated Victoria Machinery Depot 18 to 5.

Cleveland Life-saver

Feller Ends Slump

One of the reasons given at the start of the season for rating Cleveland Indians as an outstanding pennant threat in the American League was that they could have no losing streaks.

With Bobby Feller bobbing up every fourth day in the pitchers' box, it was figured the Tribe could lose no more than three games in a row. This is exactly how it has worked out.

Twice the Indians have faltered and lost three straight. Twice the husky right-handed ace has stepped in and stemmed the tide. He did it yesterday with a 9 to 0 decision over Detroit Tigers, who had had Cleveland on the run all during the first half of this week.

Feller pitched one of his magnificent games, scattering seven hits, striking out eight and allowing only two runners to get past first base—none after the third inning.

It was rapid Robert's 10th victory against two defeats this season. Coming with less than a third of the schedule completed it held out the enchanting possibility of 30 victories for Feller this year.

While Cleveland was regaining its grip on the American League, St. Louis Cardinals rolled their winning string to 10 games for the second time this season with a 10 to 9 decision over Cincinnati Reds. The world champions struggled gamely, shaking up their batting order and using five different pitchers.

But the Cards scored in six different innings and pulled off four double plays. It was the fifth straight victory by one run for St. Louis.

The most spectacular individual performance yesterday was the one-hit pitching show put on by Bill Dietrich of Chicago White Sox in shutting out St. Louis Browns 4 to 0. Dietrich, who pitched a no-hit game against the Browns in 1937, also had a two-hitter against Detroit earlier this season.

The 10-game losing streak of Washington Senators was charitably checked by rain which washed out a five-run sixth inning of New York Yankees and left the score tied at 2 to 2.

Boston Red Sox benched Jimmy Foss at his own request and punched out a 6 to 4 verdict over Philadelphia Athletics, who sank back to sixth place. Ted Williams and Lamar Newsome pounded home runs for the Sox.

New York's Giants bashed Boston Braves 9 to 2 in the other of the day's two National League games. Mel Ott hit his 11th homer of the year and two doubles while Gabby Hartnett connected for a home run and three singles to drive in four New York tallies.

COAST LEAGUE

The crumbling Sacramento Senators, pilloried and plastered in unprecedented manner, today lead the Coast League chase by only nine full games.

These once invincible baseballers lost to San Francisco again last night, 9 to 2. It was their second defeat in a row and they actually trail in the current series, two games to one. Only once before this season have the Senators been beaten twice in succession, and never before by the same team.

At Portland pitcher Ad Liska and his fellow Beavers finally got operations under way after two nights of rain and stopped Oakland, 7 to 2, to take over sixth place from the visiting Oaks.

Outfit, 8 to 7, Seattle bunched three of its blows for one run in the seventh and profited from two errors for another pair in the eighth to beat Hollywood, 3 to 1, and square the series in the Washington City at a game apiece.

First baseman George McDonald poked a two-run first-inning homer and San Diego kept ahead from there on to halt Los Angeles, 6 to 4. Undeclared rookie Ted Dillebeck, holding the Angels hitless until the fourth inning, gained his third victory.

Cheminus to Perform Here

Holding down the driver's seat in the Victoria Baseball League standings one full game ahead of the Eagles, the unbeaten Cheminus club will be seen in action here tomorrow. The uplanders are booked for a double-header at Athletic Park, and will have the birdmen as their opponents. The matinee attraction is slated for 2.30, and the nightcap for 6.

Cheminus disposed of Pitzer and Nex and the Tilicum Athletics in convincing fashion, and are all set to give the Eagles a similar lacing. They will travel at full strength, all of which suggests that Manager Charlie Strouger and his birdmen are in for a busy day.

Jack Naylor, ace portside, is slated to hurl the matinee attraction for the visitors. Number one pitcher from Cheminus, the left-hander, will probably be a source of worry to the local stickers. Berkey, a youngster, and Haley Jackson, a former Victoria hurler, are the other up- island moundsman. Davies and Tommy Naylor, a pair of smart receivers, will look after the home-plate chores. Other players making the trip are: Babe Work, Tommy Garner, Sy Shillito, Gus Crucil, Ray Moretti, Ted Cushing, Hugo Hagg, Joe Garner, Eric Smythe and Gil Bruce.

Trailing Cheminus by one full game, Eagles must take both ends of the double bill to move into first place. The locals will be at full strength, and talkative Charlie Strouger, birdmen's pilot, is looking for two victories. Stan Davies, Les Stobo, Russ, Richardson and Pratt will be available for mound duties, and all of the other regulars will be on deck.

Bays and Jokers Boxla Opponents

Bays and Jokers will get together this evening to toss rubber and swing wood and gut in their second meeting of the 1941 Victoria boxla season. Ted Menzies, manager of the Bays, has seen his team progress for the last three weeks without suffering defeat and is firmly convinced that no one can offer a plausible reason why his classy outfit should be shown out the back door tonight.

Jimmy Smith of the Jokers has different thoughts, however. It didn't take much ruminating and cogitating on the part of the Joker coach to discover that this black-shirted aggregation would be a dangerous piece of boxla material if it obtained some good combination. So for the past few nights he has been putting the boys through their paces, bettering their passing attack.

They meet at 8.30 and Douglas Tire and Heaney's supply the entertainment in the preliminary, which opens at 7.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon the executive of the Victoria Box Lacrosse Association decided to carry on with tomorrow night's schedule for juvenile clubs. At 6 Colonist will play Oaklands, at 7 Times will play Clarkson's Painters and at 8 Saanich Beavers will stack up against Foul Bay.

The senior city champions this year will have their efforts rewarded by reception of the Little and Taylor Cup, emblematic of this winning feat. The suggestion of R. M. Williams, manager of the Alerts, that six-man lacrosse be introduced locally was voted down because it was thought that it would handicap the local team that represented the city in the provincial final. The British Columbia set-up calls for the seven-man game.

Representatives of the Royal Canadian Air Force advanced plans of a home and home series of games between the army in the Victoria league and the R.C.A.F. team on the mainland. The local commission expressed willingness to help the committee arranging the games but refused to accept financial responsibility. Net proceeds from the series are to go to the Spitfire Fund.

150,000 See One Starting Car Burned

SPEEDWAY, Indianapolis (AP)—Start of the Memorial Day 500-mile automobile race was delayed one hour today by a fire in the garage section which destroyed three race cars and 30 garages, injured seven men and caused damage estimated by officials at $100,000.

A crowd unofficially estimated at nearly 150,000 was on hand, filling the mile-long grandstand sections and most of the infield.

Hundreds of spectators, who had streamed into the grounds when the gates opened an hour before, watched the fire from the grandstand across the track and from the infield, Indianapolis firemen hurried to help the Speed-way firefighting crew.

Destruction of fuel and other supplies and damage to power lines, knocking out the electric clocking device, threatened to halt the race, but workmen labored frantically to repair the damage, and fresh supplies were obtained, and the start was delayed only an hour.

ELIMINATED ONE CAR

One of the cars destroyed was eligible for today's race. It was entered by Eddie Offutt, Los Angeles, and was to have been driven by George Barringer, Houston, Texas. It was one of the two rear-motored cars entered. Offutt said $125,000 had been spent in its construction.

It was the first time since 1936 that a complete field of 33 cars failed to start. That year "Wild Bill" Cummings was left at the post because his motor refused to start. Another eligible for today's race, Sam Hanks, Alhambra, Calif., was missing from the starting field. His car was wrecked late yesterday in a practice spin when it tore through a fence. Hanks, confined to a hospital, was reported to be in fair condition.

With the Forces

Bobbies Faster Than Canadians

Canadian troops failed to beat London bobbies in a recent track meet at Mitcham, England, for the forces and police. English sportswriters declared them likely to do better, however, with further training.

Police, members of a Czechoslovak regiment, Irish Guards and Canadians took part in a team race. Two teams of London police finished first and second, trailed by the Czechoslovaks and Canadians.

Army Equipment On Display

A bantam scout car and six Bren gun carriers will participate in parades of military equipment through Ontario's Grey and Dufferin counties to emphasize the recruiting campaign. A field kitchen will feed men en route in the parades, and a public address system will be carried for recruiting appeals and Victory Loan addresses.

1st Division In Manoeuvres

The First Canadian Division and a British division have been taking part in a gigantic advance and counter-attack manoeuvre somewhere on the English coast.

TORPEDO-PLANE PILOT—Flying Officer Mac Muir of Fergus, may have been one of the British pilots who helped liquidate the Bismark. He has been a flying officer on the aircraft carrier Ark Royal for some years. Now 27, he went overseas five years ago to join the fleet air arm. Born in Guelph, his mother, Mrs. Thomas A. Muir, now lives in Kingston.

The Canadians, under Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, have operated for the first time on a four-day exercise with a British division, working out joint plans to meet new tactics the Germans might use in an attempt at invasion.

The full-dress move has been featured by the rapid mobility and rugged stamina of the troops. Units have rushed ahead with hectic speed, with Bren gun carrier platoons and a reconnaissance battalion scouting their advance.

Lieut.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, has been watching the anti-invasion push as a spectator with Col. J. C. Kennedy, a United States Army Air Corps observer.

Tax Limited For Servicemen

Special increased exemptions granted to estates of soldiers, sailors and airmen dying on service under the new Succession Duties Act have been extended under an amendment approved by the House of Commons.

The increase in exemptions is subject to the stipulation that the circumstances are such that the widow or children of the deceased are entitled to a pension.

Recruiting Good In Australia

A recent intensified recruiting campaign in Australia, similar to the drive for 32,000 men before the end of June in Canada, is proving highly successful.

Maj.-Gen. Lloyd, directing the campaign, has stated that during the first month of the drive 20,000 men enlisted throughout Australia, and that the number entering camp exceeded the national quota.

PROMOTED—Major R. H. Richardson, M.C., of Toronto, has been promoted to be acting lieutenant-colonel and deputy assistant adjutant-general at national defence headquarters. He went to Ottawa from Toronto, early in 1940 to join the headquarters staff.

EDWARD FRY

GEORGE F. FRY

Brothers in services. Edward Fry, in the army, George Frederick Fry, in the navy, are two ex-Times carriers making good in the services. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fry, 1422 Fernwood Road. Edward, at Debert, Nova Scotia, with the 3rd Division R.C.A.S.C., was recently promoted sergeant. A former trumpeter in the 5th he is now leading a 32-piece band. George is "on the move" in the navy in which he has progressed well. Both are former Boys' Central High students.

Relations Good At Petawawa

Investigation by military authorities indicates that reports of ill-feeling at Petawawa, Ont., camp between active army recruits and men called up for compulsory military training are unfounded, Defence Minister Ralston has stated.

He said reports received by him indicate there is no unrest in the camp beyond impatience of all ranks to get overseas. The investigation was made following reports that ill-feeling had been aroused when active service units had been placed under canvas and their hutments made available to men called for compulsory training.

Final Pep Rally For Bond Sellers

The "behind the front" army that starts out Monday to sell the Victory Loan to Victorians will hold its "flag-raising" ceremony at a dinner meeting to-night in Spencer's dining-room.

They are the salesmen who will form the shock troops in the Victoria campaign.

Feature address will be delivered by W. M. Patterson, retired New Zealand, on the topic "Australia's War Effort."

Monday morning they will set out on the greatest bond-selling campaign the city has ever known—58 salesmen out to sell 15,000 prospects.

Each salesman has an average of 290 prospects to call on during the month. The average sale works out at $2,750 per day or $47,000 by each man.

From day to day they will keep a blackboard chart of progress. Twice a week supper meetings will be held. Nine teams of salesmen will compete for special prizes.

Rate Hearing June 23

The provincial Public Utilities Commission hearing on rates of the B.C. Electric Railway Company Ltd. for power and light will open in Victoria, 10 a.m., June 23, the city was informed by the secretary today. He asked that the city make available the council chamber for the inquiry.

Toads quench their thirst by absorbing moisture through their skins.

CONSIDER WAGES NEXT WEDNESDAY

The city finance committee will hold a special meeting Wednesday at 3.30 to consider wage requests from employees not covered in recent salary adjustments.

When the special wage committee went over staff pay, it limited its consideration to those getting $125 a month and less.

Revisions are believed in order as some employees were raised by the adjustments and cost of living bonus to points virtually on par with the incomes of men in more responsible positions.

Seattle 'Y' Residents See Victoria Today

A party of 50 dormitory residents of the George Williams Club of the Y.M.C.A. of Seattle, their girl friends and girls of the city's Y.W.C.A., arrived in Victoria this morning, some to visit for the afternoon and others to stay for the week-end. Adrian Spidele, president of the club, which was named after Sir George Williams, founder of the Y.M.C.A., was in charge of the party. Lyman Anderson, resident secretary of the Seattle "Y," which houses 365 dormitory residents, accompanied the party.

This club stages regular semi-monthly trips, going to different points in the Pacific northwest, the idea of the trips to give members of the club a better knowledge of the territory in which they live.

The group went on a sight-seeing tour of the city this afternoon, after which some of the members returned to Seattle on the afternoon boat. Others will stay until Sunday.

Eight of the fines were for exceeding the 30-miles-an-hour speed limit in town and the ninth was for exceeding the 15-miles-an-hour limit in a school zone.

One motorist was fined $10 twice when found guilty of passing the 30-miles-an-hour limit twice within an hour on the afternoon of May 21. Sergeant Roy Woolsey and Constable Laurie Greenwood testified in both cases. The motorist was paced at 42 miles an hour along Douglas Street at... at 50 miles an hour on Gorge Road.

A motorist was fined $5 for disobeying a traffic signal and two $250 fines were imposed for overparking cars in the business area.

How Job Insurance Works; Contributions Start July 1

Wage earners will start contributing July 1 to the national unemployment insurance fund.

Under Inspector J. H. Loggie, a staff at the Post Office Building is now making arrangements with employers for collections in this district.

Wage earners will find a big change in the first pay cheques they receive in July. Not only does unemployment insurance commence, but the new increased national defence taxes take effect the same day. Simultaneously the provincial government will stop collecting its 1 per cent wage tax.

Persons earning up to $38.50 a week come under the insurance fund, provided they are in the insured categories. The contribution is graduated according to earnings.

THREE-WAY FUND

The contributions are threefold. The wage earner puts in one share, the employer another, and the government puts in one-fifth of their combined contribution, plus the cost of administration.

Youths earning less than 90 cents a day or being under 16 years old do not have to contribute personally but their employers have to pay 27 cents a week to establish a fund for them. They do not draw benefits.

Here is the scale of contributions for others:

Class	Weekly Wage	Employer's Share	Employee's Share
1.	$5.40 to $7.50	21c	12c
2.	$7.50 to $9.60	25c	15c
3.	$9.60 to $12	25c	18c
4.	$12 to $15	25c	21c
5.	$15 to $20	27c	24c
6.	$20 to $26	27c	30c
7.	$26 to $38.50	27c	36c

Wage-earners do not have to fill out any forms and the contributions are the same regardless of whether a man has dependents or not, or is married or single.

EXEMPTIONS

Exempted from the act, besides those earning more than $2,000 a year, or $38.50 a week are persons engaged in agriculture, horticulture and forestry, fishing, lumbering and logging (except such sawmills, planing mills, shingle mills and wood processing plants that the commission thinks will operate continuously), hunting and trapping, transportation by air and water, stevedoring, domestic service (except those in clubs or businesses run for gain), hospitals or charitable institutions not run for gain, professional nurses and probationers, teachers (including music and dancing teachers), men in the armed forces, police, Dominion civil service and other government service that is permanent, and agents working for commissions on certain basis.

Employers are required to keep card books for each employee. In these they will place stamps each week showing the contribution. Employees are entitled to inspect their books twice a month.

BENEFITS AFTER SIX MONTHS

Benefits will start if a person becomes unemployed after contributing for 180 days, or roughly six months—either in one period or in split periods extending over two years.

The amount of benefits received depends on how long a person has been contributing. The formula is as follows: Benefits will amount to one-fifth of the contribution made by a wage-earner in the last five years, less one-third of the benefits he may have received in that time. The benefits are paid at the rate of 34 times the weekly contribution of a single person and 40 times the contribution of a man with dependents.

Thus, the scale on which benefits are paid, comparing with the above table of contributions, is as follows:

Class	Single Person (Per Week)	Person With Dependents (Per Week)
1.	$ 4.08	$ 4.80
2.	5.10	6.00
3.	6.12	7.20
4.	7.14	8.40
5.	8.16	9.60
6.	10.20	12.00
7.	12.24	14.40

In the low wage groups, an unemployed person draws benefits only a small portion less than his normal earnings. In the higher brackets it runs from one-half to two-fifths.

The length of time these weekly benefits can be drawn depends on how long contributions have been paid. After the minimum period of contribution they may run for only six weeks, but after five years of steady contribution they can run as long as a year.

To be entitled to benefits, Mr. Loggie said a person must be able to work—that is, not just laid off on account of sickness—must show an attempt to get work, and not have refused training that would enable him to get work.

VICTORY POSTERS TO BE DISPLAYED

Stores and business offices yesterday were invaded by a team of young ladies organized by Art Minnis and distributed approximately 1,500 display cards advertising the Victory Loan, which will be launched on June 2.

Mr. Minnis reported today that out of 546 stores and offices visited, only 10 declined to display the cards. "We received the fullest co-operation," he said. All merchants and businessmen were asked to make the fullest use of the display cards and wherever possible to provide a patriotic background for them.

The young ladies enjoyed the experience and were provided with light refreshments by Mr. Minnis.

Alan Mayhew, in charge of street streamers, announced today that through the generosity of commercial artists it had been possible to secure 11 street streamers advertising the Victory Loan. Robert Taylor, another member of the press and distribution committee, has organized a follow-up team to urge merchants to use Victory Loan posters as much as possible. John Clay arranged for the delivery of advertising literature to outlying districts.

MAY BE STRANDED IN B.C. INTERIOR

Ben Nelson, a prospector of Smithers, B.C., may be stranded without food in the wilds of northern British Columbia, according to a message received by provincial police headquarters. Police are getting in touch with his friends about a possible rescue expedition.

His plight became known when Indians found a message on April 31 on a cabin door at Spatsizi, near the Ducker River, signed by Nelson and saying he had lost all his provisions and clothes. The Indians found his raft, overturned.

Police at Prince George were informed P. M. Monckton had met Nelson at the head of Klappan River. Nelson told him he had met Ed. Borders, the skier who trekked over the Alaska Highway route, and asked him to get in touch with Joe Murray at Thistles Mine, Port Alberni, to arrange for a plane to fly provisions for him to Chukchid Lake.

Police were unable to locate Murray but were told he intended to fly into Chukchid on June 1.

Escapes From Jail

Frank Revelle, alias Frank Elford Lavell, 29, serving a 15-month sentence in Nelson provincial jail for worthless cheque passing, escaped last night, provincial police headquarters here announced today.

Revelle is described as a Canadian, 5 feet 11 inches tall, weighing 167 pounds, with medium brown hair, light hazel eyes, medium fair complexion and clean shaven. At the time of escape he wore a bluish-green, grey-striped coat, and dark blue pants with faint stripes.

Police say Lavell had appeared before magistrates in Hope, Burnaby and Vancouver on cheque-passing charges and had been transferred to Nelson jail at his own request last January in preference to serving sentence at Oakalla.

Buy Your Musical Instrument Now!

...It's Sound Advice

Because Fletcher Bros. is a complete music store, it is one of the few stores in western Canada that still has a complete stock of musical instruments by the world's most famous makers. Guitars, banjos, saxophones, piano-accordions, etc., which are made in the United States and other countries are no longer available. That means when our present stock, still at pre-war prices, is depleted, no others will be available. So we say: "Buy your musical instrument now... it's sound advice."

For Victory Loan

$1,000,000 From Famous Players

One million dollars to the Victory Loan has been subscribed by Famous Players Canadian Corporation Limited, Cliff Denham, manager of the Dominion Theatre, reported today on his return from the Vancouver convention of British Columbia managers, with J. M. Robertson, manager of the Capitol, and M. Preiswerck, manager of the Atlas. The cheque was handed to the provincial headquarters by J. J. Fitzgibbons, recently appointed president of the corporation, Wendell Farris, new director on the corporation board, and Laurence I. Bearg, B.C. general manager of Famous Players theatres.

ABANDON EXPANSION PLANS

Mr. Fitzgibbons said: "We have abandoned for the war period our plans of expansion and theatres will be built only in extraordinary circumstances, such as the rise of a war industry town where entertainment is needed. We are planning to reserve all our projected building for the after-war period, when it will be of benefit to the Dominion."

Reach Accord On Arena Plan

Negotiations between the city and H. Barney Olson for use of the Horse Show Building at the Willows for an ice arena appeared to have reached a satisfactory conclusion today following an inspection of the building by Mayor Andrew McGavin, members of the city's B.C. Agricultural Association committee and Mr. Olson.

A rental of $1,800 a year was approved for the building. "We went over the building with Mr. Olson and he showed us what he wished done," the mayor said. "We have agreed largely on the changes he has proposed and plan to use some of the money earmarked by the council for the arena in making those necessary alterations. At least part of that fund will be used for that purpose."

The mayor indicated a meeting of the B.C. Agricultural Association would be called without delay to notify the present tenant his occupancy would terminate shortly.

Mr. Olson expressed satisfaction with the agreement.

U.S. CLAUSE BONDS OUTSIDE NEW TAX

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, today said he had made representations to Ottawa regarding the new 15 per cent national tax levied on dividends and interest from Canadian securities held by nonresidents.

He said he had received assurance the tax will not apply on provincial and municipal bonds which have a U.S. payment clause, but does apply to those which have only a Canadian payment clause, and are held by nonresidents.

The B.C. government has bond issues which call for payment in United States funds. Under the ruling they would not be subject to tax. Mr. Hart, who is corresponding with the federal Finance Minister regarding the other bonds, said that if the tax had applied on U.S. payment-clause bonds the government would have had to consider making it up to U.S. investors.

Want Old Guns For Scrap Use

Inquiries were made at the City Hall today by Lieut-Col Hugh Allen, D.A.Q.M.G., Department of National Defence, as to whether or not Victoria is prepared to surrender old guns in its jurisdiction for use in providing material for new armaments.

"The Dominion government has decided to utilize to the fullest extent all scrap metal that can be obtained, and the suggestion has been made that trophy guns which were loaned to the municipalities would furnish a very valuable source of material," the letter said.

"It is not the intention to ask for guns which are still required by municipalities, but only to use those which are voluntarily relinquished."

"In some cases the guns actually form part of the local war memorial, and those should not be disturbed, in other cases the cost of transportation prohibits the immediate conversion on an economic basis."

"To provide definite data on which the salvage officers can base their proposals it has been decided to circulate the municipalities and obtain their views."

"A record of these guns is on file at this headquarters, but in order to ensure the accuracy of the information as to the available metal, it would be appreciated if you would include a list of the guns which you have on loan," the letter concluded.

Last year the city hauled several souvenir guns from their points of public display to the Garbally Road yard. The action, however, brought a protest from veterans organizations, and the pieces were returned to their previous locations.

The question of making them available to the federal government is expected to be discussed by the City Council at its next meeting.

Teachers of South Saanich Anglican Sunday schools, one of which meets at St. Mary's Church, Saanichton, and the other at Brentwood Women's Institute Hall, met recently and made plans for the fall and winter season. Decision was reached to place the two schools under single management. P. F. Warren was appointed by the rector to be superintendent, with Mrs. Adrian Butler as secretary and Miss Barbara Atkins as treasurer. The Sunday school will close for the summer June 15 with a special service at St. Stephen's. The fall term will commence September 14 with a special rally service.

Horse Racing Strike Ended

TORONTO (CP)—The horse racing dispute which caused cancellation of one spring meeting in Toronto and forced reduced fields in another was ended today, and racing will reopen at Long Branch track Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Attorney-General Gordon Conant will take a seat on the board of directors of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association and prepare a plan to end the difficulties between the I.C.R.A. and the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association.

The Attorney-General said his temporary appointment will not replace any of the present members of the I.C.R.A. board. It was previously believed he would replace Fred Orpen, managing director of the Metropolitan Racing Association, who suggested such a substitution.

The trouble broke last week when the horsemen protested that their representative, Ryland New of Oakville, Ont., was not recognized by the I.C.R.A., to whose board they claimed they elected him. They refused to race their horses on the last two days of the spring meeting at Woodbine Park, and shortly afterwards Thorncliffe Park officials announced cancellation of their meeting which was to be held this week.

Under present plans Thorncliffe will have two consecutive weeks of racing next fall to make up for the week it missed.

MURDER MYSTERY AT DOMINION

"Washington Melodrama" now playing at the Dominion Theatre, not only brings to the screen a new idea in detective stories, but, along with veteran Frank Morgan, presents several young players on the threshold of stardom with their most notable roles to date. Chief among these is Ann Rutherford, Mickey Rooney's sweetheart in the "Hardy Family" pictures, who is glamorous and dramatic in the romantic lead.

"Washington Melodrama" deals with a millionaire philanthropist involved in a sinister plot and murder mystery in the midst of important national affairs of today. His daughter abandons society to turn amateur detective with the aid of her fiancé, a newspaperman, to solve the mystery and clear her father.

Miss Rutherford in glamorous fashions proves herself a vivid dramatic actress, and Morgan plays a straight dramatic role grippingly. Kent Taylor plays the male lead as the newspaperman.

Added fight pictures, Joe Louis versus Buddy Baer.

'Sis Hopkins' to Show at Plaza

"Professor Colonna, you're the first comedian I've ever met who's ad-libbed his way to fame," was Judy Canova's comment on being presented to the moustacheed funster, who was cast with her in Republic's "Sis Hopkins," which opens Monday at the Plaza Theatre. The cast includes, in addition to Miss Canova and Jerry Colonna, Susan Hayward, Charlie Butterworth, Bob Crosby and Katherine Alexander.

YORK THEATRE
The barbaric South African necklace worn by Paul Robeson in "King Solomon's Mines," now being shown at the York Theatre, will shortly adorn the neck of some society beauty, for whom it was originally intended. Lent by a famous Paris fashion house to the Gaumont studio, the necklace, of heavy wire-metal, is actually of ancient native design, though now sold as "the latest thing" in jewelry.

ATLAS THEATRE
John Carradine, who dislikes horses, is once again in the saddle—this time for Zane Grey's "Western Union," which 20th Century-Fox filmed in Technicolor at Kanab, Utah. Of the six films Carradine made this year, he's been on horseback in five.

"The dislike is mutual," he said during production of "Western Union," which is now at the Atlas Theatre.

RIO THEATRE
Typical of the gangling, quick-witted, light-hearted negro who remained loyal to his master even after the Civil War gave him the status of a free man, is Whipper, who is cast as "Kezeye" in Republic's new western, "Robin Hood of the Pecos," starring Roy Rogers.

Whipper has spent many years on the stage, and recently leapt to prominence through outstanding performance in both stage and screen versions of "Of Mice and Men."

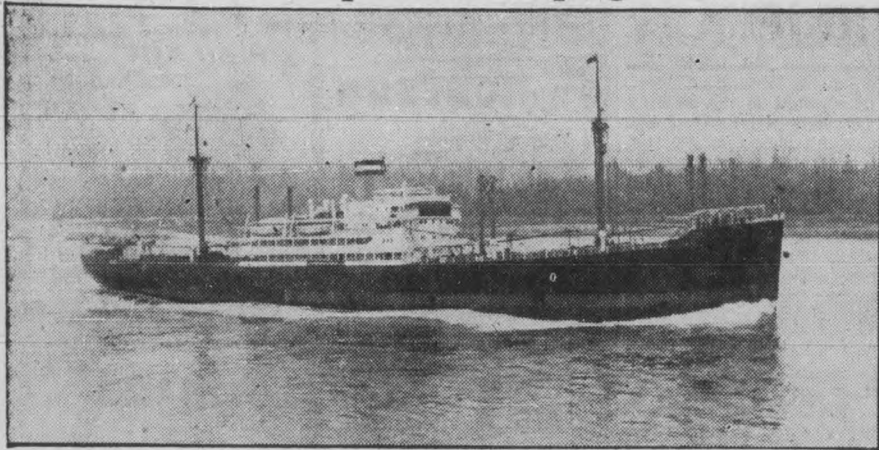

"Robin Hood of the Pecos" is currently at the Rio Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE
Burgess Meredith, young stage and screen player who co-stars with Irene Hervey and Barry Fitzgerald in Universal's "San Francisco Docks," now playing at the Plaza Theatre, is credited with owning one of the strangest bedrooms in the film capital.

Meredith and his fellow star, Franchot Tone, together bought a house which contained one bedroom and a baby's nursery. They drew lots for the bedroom and Meredith lost. So now he occupies the nursery, surrounded by pink chintz curtains and walls covered with paper of infantile design that features dogs, cats, elephants and building blocks.

PLAZA—

British Intercept Winnipeg at Sea

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—Intercepted at sea by a British cruiser while passengers were celebrating with champagne their expected arrival at Martinique, the 8,379-ton French passenger ship Winnipeg (above) is in Port of Spain harbor and hundreds of her German passengers have been interned.

Two American-born women told today how scores of Germans bound for the French colony of Martinique threw hundreds of letters and other papers into the ocean after the cruiser had fired a shot across the Winnipeg's bow and escorted her to Trinidad.

(The Winnipeg, operated by the French Line, was in the European-British Columbia freight and passenger trade before the war. When she was renamed Winnipeg, some years ago, she paid a visit to Victoria and an official welcome was arranged, the luncheon aboard being attended by a Winnipeg delegation, including Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, and Mayor Ralph Webb of the Manitoba city. The ship was presented with a plaque by the city of Winnipeg.)

MANY GERMANS ABOARD

Of the 751 passengers aboard the Winnipeg, 210 Germans, 76 Austrians and 70 unclassified persons have been interned pending investigation while the remaining passengers are being examined aboard the vessel.

The two American-born women among those already examined and released are Mrs. Antoine Peiseel and Mrs. Marcel Lowenstein, bound from Paris to Stamford, Conn.

The women, accompanied by their French husbands, told a dramatic story of their 26-day voyage from Marseille to Trinidad by way of Oran, Algeria and Casablanca, French Morocco, in a vessel they said was intended to carry only a small fraction of the 751 accommodated.

Food was running low, they said, but champagne flowed freely Monday night in celebration of the expected docking Tuesday at Martinique.

Suddenly, they said, at 2.30 a.m. a shot came across the Winnipeg's bow. Soon thereafter, they reported, scores of Germans rushed to the portholes and threw out letters and other papers. Throughout the next day, en route to Trinidad, papers continued to be thrown out until a trail of letters bobbed in the vessel's wake. Even typewriters went overboard, Mrs. Peiseel said.

(Seizure of the French ship was reported Tuesday in Washington and the Vichy government ambassador, Gaston Henry-Haye, called at the State Department for information.)

C.N.R. Issue Set At $29,414,206

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Halsey will introduce in the Commons on Monday a resolution preliminary to a bill to authorize the Canadian National Railways to issue securities "not exceeding $29,414,206 in principal amount to provide the money necessary to meet capital expenditures made or capital indebtedness incurred during the calendar year 1941."

Mr. Halsey gave notice of his resolution in today's votes and proceedings of the House.

The preamble of the resolution further states it is expedient "to make provision for the purchase or refunding of capital obligations of the company or of any company comprised in the Canadian National Railways system, and for the issue of substituted securities for such purpose; to authorize the governor-in-council to guarantee the principal, interest and sinking funds of securities issued by the company for the purpose aforesaid; to authorize the making of temporary loans to the said company secured by such securities and not exceeding $29,414,206 in principal amount to enable the said company to meet such expenditures and indebtedness; with authority to give financial aid and assistance to other companies of the said national system; to authorize the company to pay supplementary contributions to certain railway employees' provident funds, and to authorize the making of further temporary loans to the said company for interim deficits, said loans to be reimbursed from the annual revenues."

Influx of Americans

Memorial Day Cars Double Ferry Runs

So many Americans wanted to come here on the Memorial Day holiday that the Black Ball ferry Iroquois had to make two trips from Port Angeles to handle the passengers and cars.

Others crossed over on the C.P.R. boats arriving today from Seattle.

The streets of the city were thronged today by groups of Americans, shopping, and sight-seers, many of them riding in their own cars.

The visitors made reservations at the city hotels, most of them intending to stay overnight and others planning to remain for a longer period.

Leaving Seattle at midnight, the ferry Iroquois embarked 25 cars and filled her quota of 40 promptly at Port Angeles. Her officers reported some 60 cars left on the dock at Port Angeles.

The Black Ball Line immediately ordered the ferry to return to Port Angeles to pick up a second full load of cars and their passengers.

The Iroquois, after disgorging her first load, left here shortly before 10 this morning for Port Angeles and returned here again about 2.30 this afternoon, with freight and passenger decks loaded.

Getting away half a day late on her return run to Seattle via Port Angeles, this afternoon the Iroquois will eliminate the call at Port Townsend. The ferry is expected to sail from Seattle again at midnight for this port. She and other ferries will take full loads back across the straits tomorrow.

28 Ships With U.S. Supplies Sunk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Apparently authentic reports reached Congress today that only 28 ships loaded with war supplies in United States ports have been sunk en route to Britain since the war began in September, 1939.

While no tabulation was available on the total number of such vessels to clear U.S. ports, legislators said it was safe to assume the loss ratio thus far had been relatively small.

Sinkings listed were said to have involved some food products from South America, which were transhipped at ports here. It was pointed out, however, that the sinkings do not include sea losses of equipment produced in the United States and sent to Canada for shipment from Dominion ports.

The figure of 28 sinkings in the 21 months the conflict has been under way, some legislators said, tended to bear out a report Chairman Emory S. Land of the Senate Commerce Committee recently.

Land said that of 205 vessels which cleared United States ports for the United Kingdom between December 30, 1940, and last March 31, only eight were sunk.

Land emphasized his figures were based on unofficial reports and might not be complete.

Railroads, Trucks, Airlines Linked

U.S. Transportation Keyed Up for Defence

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered creation of an office of transportation and thereby terminated work of the National Defence Advisory Commission a year after it first met.

The President, it was learned from authoritative sources, has approved the new agency as a planning and co-ordinating body designed to get maximum defence co-operation in the fields of railroad, bus, truck, pipeline, ship, airline and barge transportation.

Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington Railroad and transportation member of the defence commission, is expected to head the railroad division of the new agency.

These sources said the President had no intention of placing the railroads under government operation as they were during the first Great War. Officials here regard the first Great War step a failure, and say they believe government-directed co-operation of the railroads under their private management can get better results.

The defence commission had an important hand in guiding $5,200,000,000 of cash expenditures, and in steering a long-term program now aggregating approximately $43,000,000,000. It passed out because it had only advisory powers, and needed authority to act.

Signal System Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Use of a signal system between small work boats and larger vessels under repair was recommended by a coroner's jury as it returned a verdict of accidental death in the drowning of William A. Oakley, 49-year-old shipyard employee.

Oakley was drowned and four other drydock workers escaped May 2 when a small tender capsized in the propeller wash of a freighter and threw them into the water. His body was found in the harbor.

Sister Here Learns Brother Is Safe

Mrs. Tessa Brisboy, 313 Arnot Avenue, has received word that her brother, Harvey J. Andrews, petty officer aboard H.M.S. Greyhound for some time, was not on that destroyer when it was sunk in the battle of Crete.

Young Andrews had been transferred to another ship before the naval action, Mrs. Brisboy learned in a cable from her mother in England. Another sister, Miss E. M. Andrews, resides in Vancouver.

In his last letter to his sister, received about a week ago, Andrews said dive-bombers were the worst menace.

"There's no A.A. barrage on earth that seems to stop them," he wrote. "It's miraculous the way they have missed us. In fact, we seem to have had a charmed life through the war so far."

Andrews was born in Golden, B.C. He came out to the coast to join the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, but later hitch-hiked across Canada and to a cattle boat to England, where he joined the Royal Navy.

Only in Japan Are Freight Rates Lower

MONTREAL—Although Canadian railways buy their supplies at an average of 25 per cent greater than the cost to United States lines, Canada's average per ton mile freight rate is lower than in any country in the world except Japan, where employees are paid a few cents per day," said R. C. Vaughan, vice-president, purchases, stores and steamships, Canadian National Railways, speaking before the medical and surgical section, Association of American Railroads, in session here.

Mr. Vaughan stressed the important services performed by all Canadian railways, stating the largest Canadian systems operate far more mileage than the largest company in the United States. The Canadian National Railways, for instance, operate 23,603 miles, while the largest mileage in the U.S. is that of the Santa Fe with 13,431 miles.

The great amount of work being done by Canadian railways as a contribution to the war effort was dealt with by Mr. Vaughan. In this connection the shipbuilding activities of the C.N.R. were mentioned, the company having contracts for naval minesweepers and 10 large freight vessels.

Speaking directly to the guests, Mr. Vaughan detailed the precautions taken by railroads to maintain employees fit and in good health, adding "the relatively few accidents due to human failures, when related to the number of passengers carried, is evidence of the efficient work being done by the medical departments of the railroads on the north American continent."

Patrol Collision

QUEBEC (CP)—Twelve men escaped death last night when their patrol boat, H.M.C.S. Madawaska, collided with the schooner Tadousac Transport in the St. Lawrence River near St. Jean, on the nearby island of Orleans.

How the collision occurred could not be ascertained, but the schooner was said to have struck the Madawaska, on the naval control service patrol, in the centre, causing serious damage.

Operating Revenues Highest on Record

OTTAWA (CP)—Operating revenues of the national harbors board in 1940, amounting to $10,602,199, were the highest on record and were more than $1,500,000 over those of the preceding year, according to the board's annual report which was tabled yesterday in the Commons by Transport Minister Cardin.

Expenses of administration, operation and maintenance totalled $4,506,827, an increase of $248,000, while operating profits at $3,095,372 were up $1,261,053.

Vessel arrivals last year in ports administered by the board numbered 46,100 with an aggregate net registered tonnage of 36,658,366, increases of 5,206 vessels and 2,600,382 tons. Volume of water-borne cargo tonnage climbed from 29,694,157 in 1939 to 30,048,502 in 1940.

Ss. America to Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The liner America, largest passenger vessel ever built in the United States, is being acquired by the Maritime Commission for delivery to the United States navy, the commission announces.

The commission said "a number" of merchant vessels were being acquired for navy auxiliaries, but named only the America.

The America, first vessel contracted for in the commission's long-range construction program, was built by the Newport News, Va., Shipbuilding and Drydock Company for the United States Lines. She was delivered for service July 2, 1940.

Of 26,482 gross tonnage, the America has a speed of 22 knots under normal sea conditions.

NEW YORK (CP)—The America was yesterday ordered by wireless to cut short a West Indies cruise and to proceed at full speed to New York.

The vessel will dock here Monday and leave the following day for Newport News, Va., where she will be reconducted for the navy.

Blubber, Not Ambergris

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—General lack of interest held trading to a minimum on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and wheat futures prices remained at their pegged levels of 75 1/2 cents a bushel for May, 77 1/2 for July.

With the Chicago wheat market closed for the Memorial Day holiday most traders were content to remain on the sidelines throughout the dull session.

There were unconfirmed reports of a small export business in Canadian wheat.

At Buenos Aires wheat remained unchanged.

Domestic spreading in oats and barley was uncovered. Crushers supported flax early in the day but withdrew later and prices dropped about 2 cents. Rye was neglected.

Shippers took small amounts of No. 2 northern and durum cash wheat and there was a fair demand for lower grades although little wheat actually changed hands.

Western farmers delivered 988,000 bushels of wheat to country elevators yesterday, almost four times as much as the 249,000 unloaded on the same day last year. Grain inspections totaled 985 cars yesterday, 377 a year ago.

'Pretty Lady' Plant Produces Poisonous Berries

Have you ever heard of the "pretty lady" plant?

Most likely not, and for good reasons. It is a native of Europe, and isn't grown widely on this continent. The regular name for it is not "pretty lady" but "belladonna."

"Belladonna," however, means "pretty lady," or "fine lady." The name came from the Italian language, and Italy is one of the countries of Europe where it grows wild.

We may be well pleased that belladonnas are seldom to be seen over here. They are poisonous plants, and anyone who eats the roots, leaves or berries will suffer.

The belladonna plant is one of the plants which guard themselves by being poisonous. A human being who chews up and swallows the shiny, purple-black berries or some other part soon may find his throat dry and his eyes not seeing as they should. Before long he may tremble and may not be able to move his legs. Some persons have died after eating of the plant.

Belladonna berries grow on a bush which has a height of from two to six feet. This bush might seem like one the world should not have, but there are some good points about it. It has been helpful in medicine.

When treated in the right way, belladonna leaves and roots have proved of value in making certain extracts and ointments. Eye doctors have employed a product of the plant when testing their patients for glasses.

Relatives of the belladonna grow wild on our side of the Atlantic. They are classed in the "night-shade" family. One kind has white flowers and black berries, and seldom grows to a height of more than two feet. The berries are not good to eat, but they aren't so poisonous as the belladonna. Another kind of night-shade is so poisonous that it is called "the deadly night-shade."

Other plants are dangerous because of their poisonous leaves, as the wild black cherry, the Christmas rose, the larkspur, the boxwood, the mountain laurel, the poison hemlock and the water hemlock.

Certain of the plants I have named have poisonous roots or seeds as well as leaves or berries. The list is not complete--that is, there are other plants which we must be careful about. A good rule to follow is never to pick or eat strange berries which you find growing somewhere. Another rule is to keep little boys and girls--say from the age of one to six--away from bushes or other plants which may be poisonous.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX--I am 23 years old and have been married seven years. My husband has to work all the time and I get so lonesome being by myself. When he is at home he sits with the paper in his hands or in front of the radio. He does not tell me any of the happenings at the place where he works, or carry on a conversation with me, and only God knows how much a woman wants to be with her husband and talk with him. Could you give me some advice?

M. J. L.

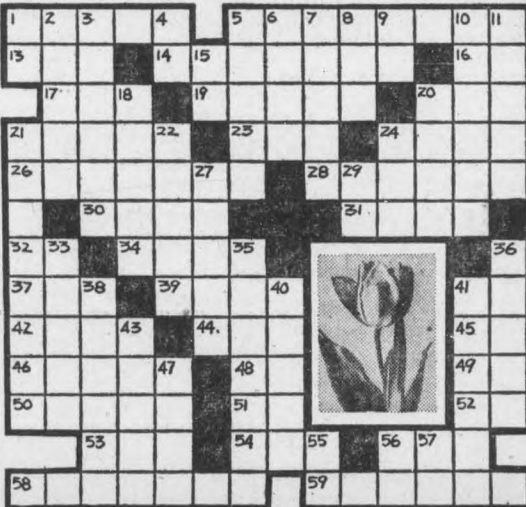

Answer--The first piece of advice that I can give you is to try to look at the situation from your husband's side. Evidently he works very hard and is at home very little. If you love him you should accept this condition bravely and cheerfully as your part of making a life together, instead of whining and complaining about it, because he is not wilfully neglecting you. He is toiling with all his strength to earn the money to make you comfortable and to get a start in the world.

You should have intelligence enough to know that when a man works that hard when he comes home he is spent in body and mind, and he doesn't feel like carrying on an interesting conversation to entertain anybody. He just wants to slump, with his paper or the radio, and rest. Also, if your husband doesn't amuse you by telling all the gossip of the place at which he works, it may be because of a sense of honor that prevents him from broadcasting the private affairs of his employers. That is his side of the matter, but the solution of the problem, as far as you are concerned, is to find something to do that will take up your time and give you something interesting to think about.

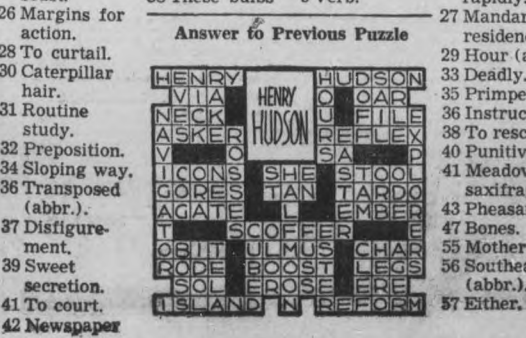

Don't just sit around and pity yourself because your husband isn't amusing you with sprightly conversation. Not one man in a million is really a fireside companion, even though he is sitting next three feet from you. He may lend his wife his ears, but he keeps his tongue to himself for the simple reason that he has talked himself out all day in business and wants to rest.

DOROTHY DIX.

Judge Writes Poem
On Contract—(Bridge)

By KAY MCINTYRE

It's a far cry from articles about international politics, written for such magazines as Saturday Night, to a booklet of humorous verse outlining bridge rules. Alfred Jones, retired Ontario magistrate, made the jump when he wrote "Etiquette of Contract Bridge." Proceeds from the sale of the work, published recently, go to the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, formerly of Brantford, are now making their home in Victoria. Except for writing the occasional article, bridge has been Mr. Jones' chief hobby for a long time. An ardent enthusiast, he started playing auction more than 30 years ago, switched to contract when it became popular. A few years ago he was taking part in eastern tournaments against such internationally-known players as Sidney Lenz and J. Mattys.

This is the first time he has written anything about the game. The verses were prompted when he noticed players were apt to overlook many of the rules as approved by such authorities as the Portland Club of London and the New York Whist Club.

"I felt I was slipping myself, too, so I wrote it for my own benefit," he says.

Bridge fans are warned against criticizing opponents' bids, partners' mistakes and reviewing bids after the play has started. The writer also unearths a great many precepts unknown to the casual player. In fact, he hasn't overlooked any errors, and has pointed out a great many seldom regarded as such.

Altogether, readers of the verse will have a very clear idea of what not to say and do at the bridge table.

Reeve J. E. Sears, West Vancouver visited Legislative Council yesterday to ask government aid in securing a halt in logging operations at Eagle Lake and on Hollyburn Ridge, which, he claimed, affected the watershed serving the western portion of the municipality and spoiled the scenery.

SMOKING RULES

Because most smokers are violators of smoking etiquette, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued a few smoking manner rules: Never smoke where there are "No Smoking" signs. Never toss a lighted smoke away in a building or a public carrier. Never smoke in an elevator. You may easily set fire to the clothing of the person next to you. Be careful ashes only fall in the ash tray. Don't smoke in bed. If you have to smoke at a dinner table (epicures say smoking should never be mixed with fine meals) be exceedingly careful of your ashes. Never stand too close to anyone when you're smoking, especially if your companion is a woman in a flimsy dress.

tendency to criticize or find fault. Poking fun behind one's back is the ninth. And the last one is the desire to dominate.

Census Information
Of Great Importance

OTTAWA (CP)—Complete census information in Canada is 10 years old, "too old in these fast-moving days," Trade Minister MacKinnon said in urging public co-operation in the taking of the decennial census, starting June 11.

Speaking over a national network, Mr. MacKinnon said: "Because of the large number of people in Canada born in other countries, it is essential that we learn all that can be known regarding the birth place, origin, languages and so on, of our population."

"When emergencies arise as they have arisen in the past 18 months, that information becomes particularly valuable."

"The statistics of the last census, coupled with the supplementary data on immigration and naturalization, which we had, enabled the government in short order to establish the number and whereabouts of alien enemies in the country at the outset of the present war."

The UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE PLAN

To the Employer...

Contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund become payable as from July 1st, 1941.

Contributions are made by the employer and the employee, and are paid by the purchase of Unemployment Insurance stamps by the employer from the Post Offices.

The employee's contributions are deducted from his wages by the employer.

Stamps will be affixed to a special book, called the Insurance Book, by the employer. The book is the employee's record of contributions, and when he becomes unemployed it forms the record from which insurance benefits may be paid. Full details will be sent to you when you have returned the postcard attached to a form which is now in the mails.

The plan of procedure has been adopted after consultation with employer and employee associations and is one which has been based upon thirty years' experience in Great Britain.

The Dominion Government adds 20% to the combined employer-employee contributions, and in addition, pays the administration costs which include the operation of a National Employment Service for the convenience of employers and employees.

Contributions are payable by all persons while in employment and by their employers, with the exceptions listed in the panel below.

The first duty of every employer will be to REGISTER WITH THE COMMISSION by completing the postcard attached to a form which is now in the mails, and obtaining and issuing insurance books for all his employees. If there is doubt as to whether employees, or any of them, are insurable, ask for instructions when you return the postal card. If you do not receive a form through the mail go to the nearest Post Office, and ask for one. All employers must complete registration prior to June 14th, 1941.

The Commission feels that it can be assured of the full cooperation of all employers. Nevertheless, attention is drawn to the fact that registration is compulsory and any failure to register is an infraction of the law and is subject to penalties.
